Did you know? That since they arrested and imprisoned 5 activists for home demos there have been over 30 home demos against HLS & Marsh. By arresting people they only make things worse for HLS.

BARRY HORNE DEMO 5/11/02

"It was a year ago yesterday that Barry Horne died as a result of his courageous hunger strikes against vivisection. Barry caused huge amounts of damage to animal abusers and saved a lot of animals from torture during his life and will be missed greatly.

Yesterday activists met up at HLS and elsewhere for a day of action in his memory. First stop for one group was the Cambridge Pet Crematorium where dead animals from HLS are sent off to be burned.

10 activists dressed in skull masks entered the site. The offices were soon invaded and as employees began locking themselves inside their rooms, papers were examined. Others were on the megaphone and air horns drowning these animal abusers out with noise making sure no work could be done.

After checking the site out it was round to the front. The offices at the front of the site were soon locked up as people made a load of noise leaving with a promise they would be back soon.

While this was going on another group arrived at the premises of Amedis and made a dash for the doors. Worried-looking staff began to close the curtains and lock all the doors as people surrounded the place banging on the windows and demanding that the collaborators get outside to answer some questions.

People then met up in the village of Buckden to do a home visit on HLS scientist Dr David Crook. His home was surrounded, the neighbours were leafleted and then the large crowd of parents waiting to pick their children up from school in the village centre were informed what sort of a sicko they live near.

People were also gathering outside HLS where the workers were slowly leaving. There was a large crowd outside the gates as well as people further up the road giving these monsters hell as they tried to leave work. The police thought they would be clever and tried to move people on but this only meant people went off to HLS at Occold to carry on the demo there whilst others went to Andrew Gay's house and the homes of other HLS workers to let them know what is thought of their filthy job.

After busying themselves throughout the night 20 activists returned to HLS the following morning to see the workers in and let them know that there is no escape for those who cut up animals for money."

CAMBS HOME DEMOS 7/11/02

Activists met up in Cambridgeshire last night for an evening of action against animal abusers.

"We arrived at the home of Brian Cass and soon got going on the megaphone at this monster and his neighbour Frank Bonner who lives two doors away and is the scientific director of HLS. These directors have the lives of many thousands of animals in their hands - they live in comfortable houses and drive flashy cars bought from the profits of the suffering of millions of animals who have died because of them. Why should we let them get away with it? Why should they go home and relax while animals crawl around their cages dying at HLS? There is no way we will stand by and let these people carry on their evil trade. Within seconds his neighbours were all looking out of their windows. Before the police had a chance to catch up it was swiftly on to the next target.

Amedis director Andrew Richards was subjected to loads of noise as he was told his company's associations with Huntingdon director John Caldwell will not be tolerated. HLS director John Caldwell is a founder and director of Amedis. Again it was off to the next one at high speed.

HLS scientist Graham Knox was next on the hit list - activists banged on his door and windows, threw fliers all over his garden and made their way to the next animal abuser.

By now it was gone midnight and Professor Bains of Amedis was woken up by us banging on his door, shouting, using an air horn and ringing his doorbell.

Last but not least was Huntingdon's Andrew Gay where the megaphone and air horn were put to good use to wake him up."

MARSH HOME VISITS 8/11/02

"Despite a massive police presence several groups of activists in the South East hit the homes of Marsh directors with a barrage of noise on Friday evening despite a large police presence in the area. Marsh have been hammering on the government's door desperate to get these home demos stopped and here we were back again.

As usual there was no chance of catching up with us as most of the police were still at Fleet services. When will these people realise that we fight on until the end no matter what anybody does to try and stop us. Lives depend on our actions and it is these lives that we must fight to save. Anon"

All these demo reports have been sent to SHAC anonymously for publication.

If Huntingdon's debt was put end to end it would stretch for over 8,000 miles. That is the distance from Britain to Australia. British Airways would take over 21 hours to fly from one end of Huntingdon's debt to the other.

MORE HLS & AMEDIS HOME VISITS 9/11/02

On Saturday evening activists met up in Cambridgeshire to remind those close to the heart of HLS that they are on the blacklist of the animal rights movement. SHAC was sent the following demo report anonymously:

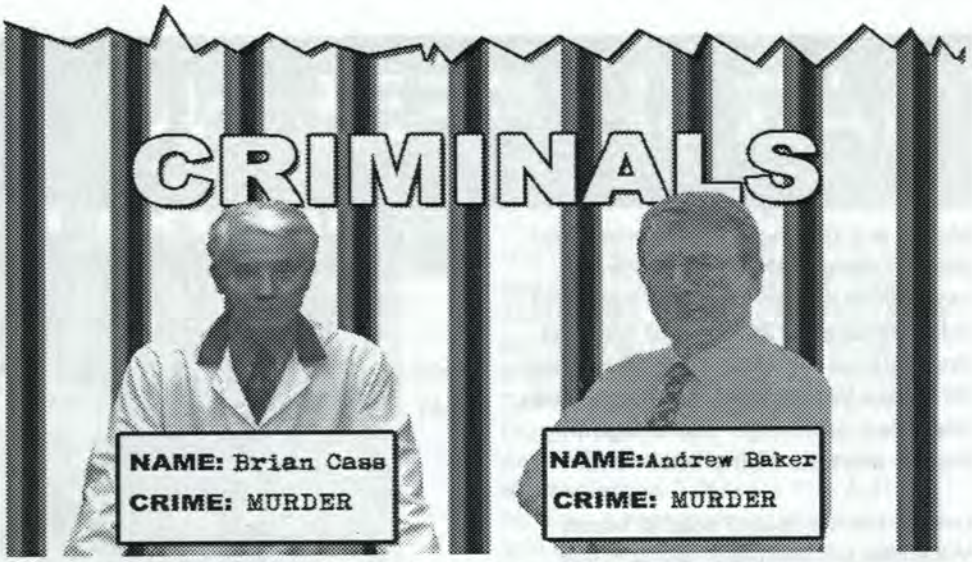

"First stop HLS pathologist Dr David Crook. This man quite literally cuts up animals at HLS. His street was soon filled with activists shouting at his home. The air horns and megaphones were used to good effect as all the neighbors came out to learn all about the puppy killer that lives in their street.

Home visit number 2 was Brian Cass and Frank Bonner who live on the same street. Activists arrived as people were gathering up the road for a firework display so the whole town got to hear about Cass and Bonner. A load of noise was made and the neighbors came piling out to see what the fuss was about. Many were rather disgruntled at the noise. If they have a HLS director on their street it is their choice. They were advised to ask Cass and Bonner to leave the area. Simple.

Onto the home of an Amedis director where police and security guards were waiting already. Job done without even getting out of the car. Off people went to the home of another Amedis director Professor Bains. Security were sittimg on the drive waiting but that did not stop fliers being thrown all over his garden and one hell of a noise being made.

At the same time as this was happening Jean Verney, also a director of Amedis, was being subjected to a noisy home demo and shortly after one group of activists left another arrived to carry on the demo.

Amedis - you can pay for security to sit outside your homes but you can not stop us coming to your homes because you all live in public places and we are all members of the public so we'll be seeing you on the next one!"

FETCH EUROPE HOME DEMOS

"Two nights in a row this week the people who run Fetch Europe (animal importers for HLS) have had activists outside their home in the early hours of the morning using air horns, megaphones and whistles to let these people know there is no rest for them while they send animals to die at HLS. Let us never forget Barry Horne and his courageous actions against scum and let us all pay tribute to this brave, inspiring man in whatever way we can."

MORE MARSH HOME VISITS 10/11/02

"On Sunday we carried out home demos on five Marsh directors in London. We managed to catch the first two by surprise. Their streets are very enclosed so any noise really does stir up a lot of people. You can imagine just what an effect megaphones and airhorns had. We had the police with us for the next three but as usual they just made things worse. Quite what all the directors' neighbours think when they see 30 activists plus well over 50 coppers in the street outside is anyone's guess. All in all we had a really effective day."

DIRECTOR SELLS SHARES

It becomes apparent how effective targeting companies associated with HLS directors is when we see that Kirby Cramer, HLS director and long-time player in the vivisection industry, has sold HALF his HLS shares at a considerable loss and now only owns less than 5% of LSR. Coincidentally this happened after details of all the companies he is involved in and/or a director of were published in SHACUSA's newsletter and these companies started to be targetted hard by activists worldwide. ACTION WORKS.

WHO ARE AMEDIS?

Amedis are a company that HLS director Professor John Caldwell is also a director of. It wouldn't need a rocket scientist to make an educated guess that Amedis are a customer of HLS as well. Putting pressure on Amedis puts pressure on Caldwell - so contact Amedis and ask them to sever their links with HLS and ask John Caldwell to resign.

MARSH FEELING THE HEAT

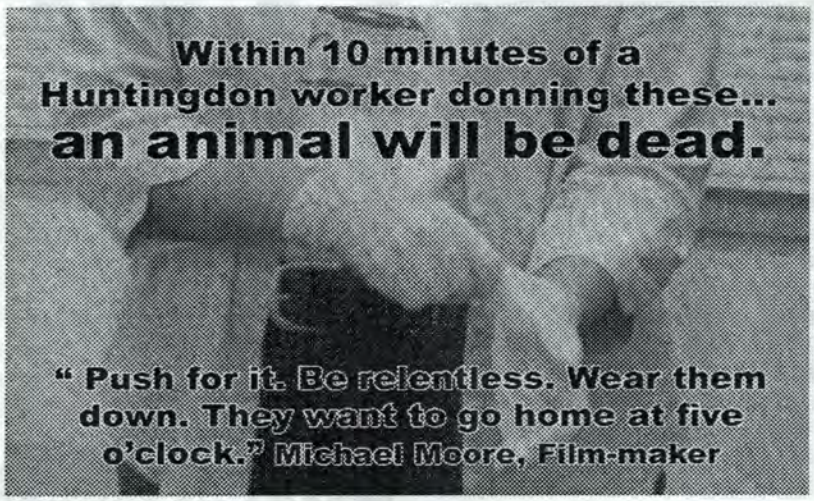

Marsh are getting a hammering and the cracks are showing. Activists worldwide are giving them hell, and this culminated in loads of hard-hitting actions against their offices and directors in memory of Barry Horne who died on hunger strike fighting for the animals til the bitter end.

Hamish Ritchie, overall head of Marsh McLennan UK and Marsh Europe, has been forced to resign from Halma, a huge company he is – or rather – was a director of prior to a week of nationwide actions against their offices in the UK. In a pathetic attempt to put a stop to home demos the National Clown Squad arrested and remanded 5 activists, but as usual their attempts to stifle legitimate protest failed, and there have been even more home demos than before, and at far more unsociable hours!

It is VITAL that you redouble your actions to put pressure on Marsh to sever their links with HLS – remember a company with no insurance is a company that has to close.

Marsh are the biggest insurance brokers worldwide, and when they drop HLS it will be a grave body blow to the lab. Contact Marsh and ask them to justify their involvement with this criminal company:

THE LAST 2 WEEKS

have been the angriest, the most active and the most effective for some time. It shows what we can achieve as individuals and as a movement when we focus our minds and hearts and step out of the confines of what is safe and easy. We need to maintain this level of commitment and keep fighting with courage and determination to close HLS, we need to keep driving ourselves and each other forward and we need to keep waging war for the animals every day of our lives. We should never go to bed at night without being able to look at ourselves in the mirror and honestly say that we have done something effective that day to close down HLS. For the animals locked inside the labs, waiting to die, desperate for a few seconds of love and attention, for Barry who cared so much he gave his life fighting the abusers, for the prisoners locked behind bars because they cared enough to put their freedom at risk to win against the monsters we are waging war against, we must all, every single one of us, keep on fighting with all our hearts and move forward to take out HLS once and for all. Imagine the gates of HLS closing forever – we can make that a reality if we care enough, and if we fight hard enough. Read Michelle's words below - she worked inside HLS and experienced the true horrors of this evil company. All the time we hear people say: "I can't think about what goes on inside the labs - it is too upsetting". Maybe we need to think about it more –animals are dying NOW as you read this, these people are getting away NOW with terrifying and abusing the beautiful, gentle creatures in their care, and are poisoning and killing people NOW with all the dangerous products they put on the market.

"The dog's tail was wagging the whole time as he was stretched out on the cart. They were holding his front legs down and his tail was going like mad. He was just so, so happy. I saw the needle enter into his little leg and his tail stopped immediately. It just stopped wagging and I could hear him whimpering and then they withdrew the needle and his tail started wagging again. I remember thinking how sad it was that these animals are so starved of attention that they crave any human attention even it hurts them."

Are you going to let them get away with their sick abuse? Or are you going to fight with all your heart to end their vile, disgusting business once and for all?

SECURITY

If I told you about a security product that is used to encrypt data and emails that is used by M16, would you be interested? This product has still not been cracked after years of trying by the security services. If I also told you this product was free you would want to know where to get it from, right?

Well look to your right and you will see that we now offer PGP (Pretty Good Privacy) FREE on the merchandise list.

PGP comes with simple step by step instructions and means that emails you encrypt to PGP are unreadable except by you and anyone you decide can read them. You can also wipe sensitive data securely and encrypt files on your desktop. PGP should be used by every sab group, animal rights group and individual in the UK. You may not be about to raid a lab but why let them get away with snooping into YOUR private business? For example how many times have sab groups planned a secret hit on a hunt or a local AR demo only to find that the police are already there? With PGP all the information could be transmitted to each other much more securely.

I must strike a note of caution though. PGP does not mean that you can email loads of mad stuff nor does it mean that you should ever keep the same mad stuff on your computer thinking that you are 100% safe as there is no such thing as 100% safe. PGP is only as good as the people using it. I have added the last few lines to balance things up and to be fair but please please do not let this put you off ordering it as yes, it may never be 100% but then what is? One thing is for sure, it's a very useful tool and it could make the difference between success and failure. PGP puts you several steps ahead of the game and if M16 use it it can't be all that bad can it? So please order it and try it.

TIME'S UP FOR PET CREMATORIUM

Several months ago we exposed the Cambridge Pet Crematorium's involvement with HLS and many other laboratories nationwide, including Cambridge University where vicious, horrific brain experiments on monkeys were filmed. Despite pressure from all of you, Cambridge Pet Crematorium continue to work for HLS and advertise their 'caring' family pet cremation services in Your Cat and Your Dog magazines, and vets' surgeries nationwide. We have been contacted by many horrified people whose animals have been cremated and buried at CPC alongside the furnaces burning the bodies of tortured, mutilated animals from the labs. CPC are a disgusting, hypocritical company – and they are providing a much-needed service to HLS. It is time to really put pressure on them to sever their links with HLS. We have done a new leaflet – please contact every vet in your area – get your local yellow pages and look them all up – visit their surgeries, talk to the vets and veterinary nurses, leave leaflets, organise yourselves to do a few hours' leafleting there and get the local press to come along. We are confident that many vets will stop using CPC once it affects their business and their clients start complaining. Time to put the screws on CPC – let's make them realise maybe dealing with animal abusers HLS isn't such a good idea after all...

MOBILES

This is a recurring request and we really need you to take it on board: if you are coming on mobile demos you need to ring through your mobile number AT LEAST 48 HOURS IN ADVANCE. To be effective we need to plan ahead so please don't call half an hour before the demo is due to start to give us your number!

ALF actions accross the world

UK

"On Saturday night a group of activists visited the home of Marsh director Julian Atkinson and sprayed slogans throughout his village and along the road where he lives. Wording such as "ALF Is Watching", "Marsh Puppy Killer", "ALF Is Getting Closer", "Scum" and "Julian Atkinson Kills Animals" was left in bright red paint. Easy, effective action. YOU ARE THE ALF. We continue to repeatedly hit Marsh directors until they sever all links with HLS. For the animals, In memory of Barry Horne. ALF"

NEW ZEALAND

"In the early hours of this morning we paid a visit to Marsh Executive Director J W Bitcheno of Epsom, Auckland and redecorated one of his vehicles with paint stripper and his pavement with spray paint letting his neighbours know what an animal abusing scumbag lives in their area."
This action was also dedicated to Barry Horne.

USA

"Tonight 11/6/02 we stopped by the home of Mark Bibi and made a bloody mess of the place. The house was covered with red paint and we sprayed slogans denouncing his work for HLS, leaving the home almost as bloody as his palms! We tinkered with his daughter's car, painted that up too, and finished the masterpiece with a boulder through the windshield!
Mark Bibi serves as a financial advisor and tax lawyer to HLS and director to Focused Healthcare Partners where he and Andrew Baker think up new ways to rob their investors and throw that money into Huntingdon Life Sciences.
This action was inspired by the spirit of Barry Horne, an activist and hero who passed away one year ago while fighting to better the lives of animals across the planet. You will always be in our hearts and thoughts Barry. The ALF"

New merchandise explained

Check out the new SHAC website... www.shac.net

'Healthcare Professionals' is a leaflet with photos and quotes by doctors, nurses and other healthcare professionals campaigning for the closure of HLS. It explains that these people, working first hand with the ill people HLS claim they want to save, are campaigning against HLS because of the damage they are doing to human health by putting products on the markets that pass animal tests only to cause serious damage to human beings. We have tried this leaflet out on stalls and the response has been incredible.

"HLS Puppy Killers": this leaflet explains on the back just who SHAC are and why the general public should support us. This leaflet is ideal for stalls or leafletting the public as it contains no gory pictures. The leaflet explains a brief history of the campaign including Consort & Hillgrove with photos of the animals on their way to freedom.

'HLS Kills People' : This leaflet explains why vivisection is a scientifically invalid method of research, and lists some of the drugs put on the market by HLS customers that have maimed and killed people. It also lists the websites featuring excellent scientific info. Just what HLS, their customers and the vivisection industry don't want the public to see– distribute far and wide!

'Sacred Cows and Golden Geese' by Dr Ray Greek is a brilliant book that all of us should read. It is full of fascinating information on why animal experiments are scientifically flawed and will give you all the ammunition you need to win every argument and debate about animal experiments. We have 50 paperback copies available at the cost price of £8.00.

'Brian Cass is evil" this leaflet is to explain to the general public just what an evil man Cass is. Most people know of HLS but not all know who the man ultimately responsible is. The leaflet explains who he is and what he does, explaining with graphic images on the back his years killing animals at Covance and the callous words he has used whilst at Huntingdon.

Cambridgeshire street map £4. There are many instances on demos where things change and we need to be flexible. It is essential that we are all reading from the same map so when you are given details you are looking at the same map and page number as the person giving the information. This is the clearest steet map available. Order it and make sure you & your group are up with the action on demos.
