"We never give in and we always win."

Welcome to SHAC Newsletter 40

Stop Huntingdon Animal Cruelty (SHAC) campaigns against Huntingdon Life Sciences, Europe's largest animal testing laboratory. Huntingdon Life Sciences experiment on lots of different animals: horses, rats, mice, dogs, cats, fish, birds, monkeys, mini-pigs, rabbits, ferrets, even donkeys and deer according to their own promotional material.

Huntingdon Life Sciences have been the subject of 5 undercover investigations at their 2 labs in the UK and one in America. These investigations revealed a catalogue of some of the worst animal cruelty ever caught on film, with workers in the UK punching beagle puppies in the face and pretending to have sex with them, and workers in the USA cutting open monkeys from neck to groin that were still alive.

HLS workers have been exposed for falsifying experiments to get drugs on the market, being caught drunk on the way to work and dealing drugs on site. They even have a convicted sex offender working with animals in one of their labs.

HLS experiments we have uncovered include testing sun tan lotion, artificial musk, artificial sweeteners, food packaging, paints, dyes and food additives. To get these toxic products on to the market HLS killed thousands of animals.

SHAC is a global campaign with many thousands of supporters worldwide. SHAC campaigns within the law, holding demonstrations, making phone calls and emails, writing letters and doing everything we can to put the spotlight on HLS and those immoral enough to do business with them.

HLS are 75 million dollars in debt and have lost hundreds of suppliers and customers globally thanks to caring people worldwide. Please fight for the animals inside HLS - you are all they have.

Disclaimer

This newsletter is not intended to encourage illegal activity of any kind. SHAC's intent is to close down HLS by legitimate means only, spreading information and disseminating the facts relating to HLS's record of animal cruelty, fraud and incompetence. We believe that there is more than enough evidence for the UK government to withdraw HLS's licence and close them down.

Readers must bear in mind that certain demonstrations eg home demonstrations are now illegal in the UK although they are perfectly legal in other countries, and the inclusion of reports relating to these demos abroad does in no sense amount to encouragement to do similar demos in the UK.

Company details are listed for the purposes of readers making informative and polite communications with the companies listed. The details are not intended for repetitive, rude or threatening calls.

Readers are encouraged to familiarise themselves with the law by sending off for our legal booklet and visiting the legal website www.freebeagles.org. Please contact SHAC if you have any queries.

The difference between SHAC and HLS explained in pictures

HLS - FINA

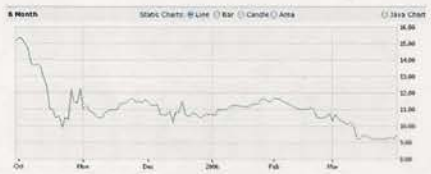

Here`s a clue. In the last quarter they l

Huntingdon recently revealed their 2005 figures. They were released way after after most other companies had brought out their own figures.

When you read them it is easy to see why HLS delayed in releasing them. 2005 was a turbulent year for Huntingdon seeing them sell all their labs to a front company called Alconbury Estates who are a basically a firewall to protect the identity of the new owners of the land. Huntingdon will now pay $5 million in rental each year to Alconbury Estates rising as time goes by. They signed a 30 year agreement and sold them for $40 million. Now you don't need to be Einstein to work out that it will cost HLS at least $150 million and more like $180 million in rental over that time. With a mark up for the new owners of 400% it can be seen that Huntingdon had to sell their labs to try and decrease their heavy debt burden.

Huntingdon wanted to release themselves from this burden as in their eyes they were sizing up a juicy return to the New York Stock Exchange which would have seen their share price shoot up. HLS were well aware that they had $47 million in bonds to repay on September 23rd this year and with a listing on the NYSE and their debt burden reduced they would have been looking to get a good refinancing package off a major bank or investor. In fact the whole programme was planned as a roll out, first the debt burden reduced then the NYSE listing then the refinancing and hey look at us chaps our share price soaring and orders climbing high but...

Oh no those ghastly SHAC people have ruined things again! Huntingdon's sales hit a high in the second quarter of 2005 at $44.9 million but dropped to $43.8 million in the third quarter. Then the NYSE fiasco hit HLS with an immediate impact on their share price and their orders. In the last quarter of 2005 orders slumped to $40 million seeing them drop by nearly $5 million in just 9 months.

The graph above shows how their share price has dropped over the past few months and the graph below shows just how their share price has fared against other indices like the Dow Jones Index etc.

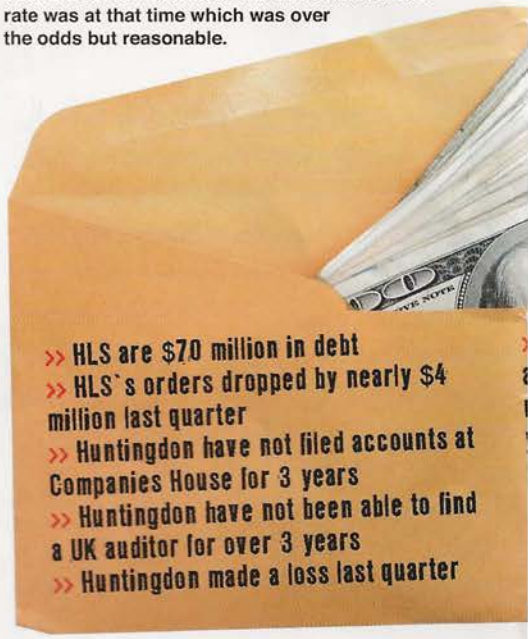

This is coupled with the fact that SHAC demos in Europe have mushroomed with many European countries now carrying multiday hard hitting demos at some of Huntingdon's largest customers. Could this be the real reason Brian Cass admitted in March 2006 that "...cancellations were unusually high this year...".

For the first time companies like Roche and Novartis who are massive HLS customers have seen demonstrations outside their HQ offices. There is a complete understanding of where we should be and you have to ask yourself should we be outside this office, what is the impact, is this where the decision makers are? If you cannot make it to anywhere else then great carry on but if you can then think about how targetted is your activism? One demo outside a HQ can have the same impact as scores pf demos at smaller offices outside that company's country of origin.

With things starting to really turn against them at the end of last year Huntingdon still had to sort out the Bonds issue as they knew from the Royal Bank of Scotland disaster that leaving questions over their future until the last minute has a really negative impact on business and so with this in mind they were keen to resolve the bonds issue early.

The only problem was that whereas they had planned a nice comfortable run up to negoatiations over refinancing it had all gone wrong and HLS were forced into the position of accepting interest payments and terms that they really didn't like and really cannot afford. They use an index called LIBOR (London Inter Bank Offering Rate) which is a moving index and is at present between 4- 5%. When Huntingdon agreed terms with Stephens in 2001 it was at a rate of 1.75% over LIBOR ie 1.75% over 4-5% or whatever the rate was at that time which was over the odds but reasonable.

>> HLS are $70 million in debt
>> HLS`s orders dropped by nearly $4 million last quarter
>> Huntingdon have not filed accounts at Companies House for 3 years
>> Huntingdon have not been able to find a UK auditor for over 3 years
>> Huntingdon made a loss last quarter

This time though HLS were forced into accepting a rate that is 8.25% over LIBOR which means that at the moment interest payments on the $70 million will be between 12 -13% which is a heavy burden for Huntingdon to carry. Also there are many penalty clauses in the refinancing linked to their performance and also things like the $70 million could be called in if Cass or Baker leaves. All this basically means is that Huntingdon are seen as high risk and for a company to insist on such high interest and clauses they are not certain of Huntingdon's future.

Huntingdon also posted their 10k form on the SEC website (Securities and Exchange Commision) in the US http://www.sec.gov
This makes interesting reading although you have to do a lot of reading between the lines. It is also available in the financial section of the SHAC website but we have listed a few choice quotes from the 10k.

st 370 of these bundles.

In a SHAC activist's court case the police were tipped off that they should be looking for a particular person. The police then put an 'Action' on this name which means that they would actively search for this man. And the person's name? Mr Go to Bed. Stupid or what?

"The company's central laboratories operation, and to a lesser extent, its other businesses, are heavily reliant on transport for the movement of clinical trial kits and other material and a significant disruption to the transport systems could have a material adverse effect on the company's business."

"The company depends on third parties to provide it with services critical to its business. The failiure of any of these third parties to adequately provide the needed services could have a material adverse effect on the company's business."

"The animal rights extremists have in the past harassed the financial community that trades in LSR shares, including Market Makers and Stockbrokers. As a result, LSR has had difficulty identifying market makers to make a market in the Voting Common Stock, which has greatly reduced liquidity in those shares.The liquidity and market price of the shares of LSR Voting Common Stock could be adversely affected in the future by such actions."

HLS recently signed a refinancing reement that sees their interest shoot . They have to pay over $10 million a ar in rental and interest alone
In the last 6 months HLS`s share ice has dropped nearly $10
Cash at hand dropped from $33 illion to $15 million

SHAC Financial demos put Huntingdon`s share price under pressure

Over the past few months Huntingdon's share price has come under increasing pressure with email action alerts and demos in the City of London, Wall Street and Bank of America demos in Europe. These demos have seen many shareholders dump their shares in HLS.

Cramer Rosenthal McGlynn sold all their 170,000 shares in HLS. Keane Capital sold their 270,000 shares in HLS commenting "... While we generally do not comment on our portfolio positions, and undertake no obligation to do so in the future, after further review of the ethical issues, industry trends, and the ongoing application of our investment process, Keane Capital has since exited its position and does not currently hold any shares of LSRI." Ameriprise sold their 34,500 shares in HLS (see letter right) and well known city firm Gartmore sold their 10,000 shares in HLS.

SHAC has also hit on a new tactic of targetting Huntingdon's two market makers Seaboard and Vertical's clearing and routing agents. This tactic saw the removal of Legacy as HLS's sole Market maker on the OTCBB after which they slipped onto the Pink Sheets (see last issue). The last 3 months have seen two of these agents desert HLS's market maker Seaboard. On March 30th their routing agent Knights dumped them after demos in the City of London, an email action alert here and also by Win Animal Rights in New York all of which happened within 7 days. This is creating huge illiquidity in Huntingdon's shares with 3 days out of the last 7 seeing 0 shares traded which is practically unheard of, except for HLS that is! The more HLS and Cass crave normality, the more abnormal their position becomes.

Home demo on a Vertical director in NY sees him do a bad Robert De Niro impression. "Hey you lookin' at me?" Yeah so what if we are. What are you going to do about it?

To Whom It May Concern

This letter is written on behalf of Ameriprise Financial, Inc. and its subsidiaries (referred to collectively as "Ameriprise"). Please be informed that no mutual funds or other accounts over which Ameriprise exercises investment discretion held securities issued by Life Sciences Research, Inc. Our next filing, which reflects holdings as of March 30, 2006, will be filed with the SEC by May 15, 2006. In the meantime we request that you update your records to accurately reflect the current status.

Ameriprise Financial, Inc. Legal Department

As an add on to this piece it is interesting to see just how badly HLS customer Phytopharm's share price is doing. This is the company that lied and said they were not a customer, then inadvertently admitted it in a court statement at a later date. Their share price is at its lowest point ever. Gone are the days of it being £5-60 as it struggles along at 38p. They are really strapped for cash and are continually issuing new shares to raise cash but they are rapidly running out of road and money. Now where have we heard that before?

+++++ NEW PRISONER ALERT +++++

Don Currie has been remanded in custody on charges of arson in relation to PDP Couriers who are a major supplier to Huntingdon Life Sciences and have also lied to SHAC in the past and the Wilton Box Company who make lab animal transportation boxes.

Please write letters of support to Don to show that he is not alone.This is really important. If you do not know Don then don't worry - your letters are still more than welcome. Just write about general things you do or demos you have been on. If you are really not a big writer then just send a card in support. You can also send Don stamps and sae's.

Please put this on your list of things to do today. Don's birthday is 13th April. Thank you.

EDM 92 – a chance to make history

A rare chance to make a historic stand against vivisection is now available. Demands for an inquiry into the medical value of vivisection have been supported by doctors, researchers and hundreds of MPs.

An Early Day Motion is currently available which requests an independent, open inquiry into the medical relevance of vivisection. An inquiry like this is bound to uncover enormous problems with animal testing for human medicine. Terrified supporters of vivisection have been urging MPs not to sign, but they're signing in numbers.

Although support has been excellent, we need hundreds more MPs to sign if it's going to go ahead. Please ask yours to sign, and ask your friends to ask their MPs too. Please be polite. Most MPs are supportive, but as there are around 2000 EDMs currently, many MPs don't know about this one. Remember that this is a very reasonable EDM: it requests an assessment. Any backbench MP can sign (but not members of the cabinet or shadow cabinet).

Many people have been shocked that their MP has supported this despite being unsupportive on other issues. If you don't think yours will sign, please ask. it just takes a few minutes, and you may be pleasantly surprised.

WHAT ELSE CAN YOU DO

If your MP or one in a nearby constituency has NOT signed, you can ask for postcards from Europeans for Medical Progress. Can you give these to friends and supporters to be completed and sent to the MP? If you give them out on a stall, offer to collect them all in and send them together. Getting them done there and then will ensure people complete them.

Flyers are now available from Vivisection Information Network – vivisectionkills@hotmail.com or P O Box 223, Camberley, GU16 5ZU

Write to your local paper and ask people to contact their MP and ask him/her to sign.

This is a crucial campaign and could make a massive difference. Contact Europeans for Medical Progress on info@curedisease.net or 020 8997 1265 if you have any ideas or thoughts about raising the profile and getting more MPs to sign.

HOW TO ASK YOUR MP TO SIGN

>> Visit http://www.vote4animals.org.uk/ and enter your postcode at the top of the page. You will be told whether your MP has signed EDM92, and you can send a message to him or her from there.

>> Write to them at House of Commons, London, SW1A 0AA. If you're not sure whether your MP has already signed check on the PAD site (above). If you have no internet access, call Protecting Animals in Democracy on 0114 272 2220.

>> You can also call your MPs office, either their local constituency office or the House of Commons on 020 7219 3000.

BE POLITE MPs will not respond to rudeness. Just ask them to sign EDM92, Animal Testing of Drugs, which requests an inquiry into the value of animal testing.

WHO SUPPORTS THIS?

>> 83% of doctors, in an independent poll, supported the idea of an independent evaluation.

>> A 2004 paper in the British Medical Journal concluded that "the contribution of animal studies to clinical medicine requires urgent formal evaluation."

>> Published studies assessing the prediction of drug side effects by animals have found them to be very poor predictors, correct only 5-25% of the time. Scientifically evaluated cell culture tests have been discovered to be 80-85% accurate.

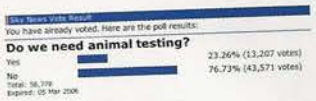

>> The Toxicology Working Group of the House of Lords Select Committee on Animals in Scientific Procedures in 2002 recommended that "the reliability and relevance of all existing animal tests should be reviewed as a matter of urgency."

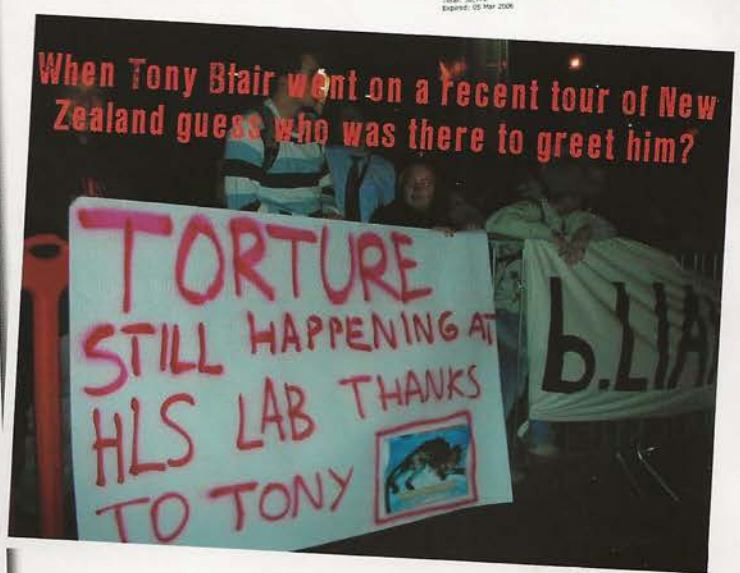

>> The recently published Nuffield Council report on animal experiments recommended: "At present, there is a relatively limited number of useful systematic reviews and meta-reviews that address the question of the scientific validity of animal experiments and tests. In principle, it would therefore be desirable to undertake further systematic reviews and meta-analyses to evaluate more fully the predictability and transferability of animal models."

Home Office Minister Caroline Flint stated in 2004 that the Government "has not commissioned or evaluated any formal research on the efficacy of animal experiments and has no plans to do so." So animal experiments have never been assessed to see if they're worth doing!

See http://www.vote4animals.org.uk/edm92.htm and www.curedisease.net for more reasons why EDM92 is needed.

Yet another HLS customer busy killing people

Pharmaceutical-business-review.com. 17 March 2006.
Eisai reports fatalities in study of Alzheimer's drug.

Japanese drugmaker Eisai Co. has reported the deaths of 11 patients during a large clinical trial testing its Alzheimer's disease drug Aricept against vascular dementia.

Aricept is already approved in the US, Japan and the EU for the treatment of mild to moderate Alzheimer's disease. Eisai, which markets the drug with its partner Pfizer, has an application pending in the US for the use of Aricept to be expanded to include vascular dementia, the second most common form of dementia after Alzheimer's disease.

A total of 11 patients from the 648 participants in the arm of the study receiving Aricept (donepezil) have died. There were no reported deaths in the 326 strong placebo group. Eisai said the deaths had been reported to regulatory authorities and that it would continue to discuss the Aricept VaD program with regulators. However, analysts are wary of the results, saying that even a small increased risk could have significance for the drug. As Aricept's efficacy in fighting Alzheimer's is relatively low, its risk profile is particularly important.

MARCH ON THE MONEY MEN

FRIDAY APRIL 28TH, MEET 11AM

FINSBURY SQUARE, EC1

NEAREST TUBE LIVERPOOL ST OR MOORGATE

Many of the companies that trade shares in Huntingdon Life Sciences have offices in the City of London. Come and make your voice heard in the money capital of Europe. We will then move off into several themed demos. See A3 map insert and decide which demo after the march you want to come on.

The animals will be inside HLS.
Will YOU be in the City?

April 28th - After the Mar

Yet again we are a victim of our own success. Over the past few weeks and months we have seen all our targets for the March aginst the Money Men disappear as HLS have gone on to the Pink Sheets and have lost Key Financial companies. We will still be marching through the City though as we really want to get the message across to the Financial Capital of Europe. The March will finish in America Square in the City outside Cantor Fitzgerald who traded 1 million shares in HLS in 2005 where we will hold a rally.

After the rally there will be at least six minibuses waiting for the following demos. Before I explain I must stress that after all demos you will be able to get a lift back into London. Just read the teams below and choose which demo you want to take part in. Can you please let us know if and how many of you are coming so we know how many

SHAC PAR & RIDE

Team 1: Animal Tested Drugs Kill People

This team will be travelling into Berkshire to demo outside HLS customers who killed animals inside Huntingdon in 2005. The theme of this demo will be highlighting the link between animal testing and the fact that these drugs go on to maim and kill people.

The demo will finish about 6pm and then lifts will be offered back to Reading Services and back into London.

Team 3: Big HLS customers

This team will stay within the M25 and carry out demos against major HLS customers. Huntingdon in their own documents say that 10 companies give HLS 45% of their business. These companies kill 81,000 animals at HLS every single year.

The companies you will be demonstrating against will be amongst these 10 companies. The demo will finish between 6-6.30 and after lifts will be offered into central London.

ch - The Plan (Please read carefully)

minibuses to book.

All demos will either be happening within London or within 40 miles of London and as I said earlier after the demos lifts will be offered back into London. Most of the demos will be at customers of HLS who have killed animals at HLS in 2005. This is important as we will be doing demos against two sides of the same coin.

1 Marching on the Financial heartland of Europe to get the message across that dealing with HLS is financial madness.

2 Carrying out demos against those who pay for experiments at HLS. No customers - No HLS: it really is that simple...So get choosing and get ready to be effective!

K If travelling into the City is your idea of a nightmare then jump on board! We will be picking up at the following points at 8am sharp ie we will be gone by 8-10am. Reading Services London Bound, Fleet Services Northbound and Pease Pottage Services on the M23. You need to contact us for a lift. Please do not just turn up!

Team 2: Staying in the City Team

From America Square this team will stay in the City of London to carry on demonstrating outside those financial companies left in the City stupid enough to still deal with HLS.

Team 4: Biohazard Team

This team will be travelling to HLS customers in Surrey and North Sussex. These companies are major HLS companies who also offer a major Bio Hazard risk to society. One of these sent dangerous samples to HLS in a Taxi!!

This demo will finish about 6pm and lifts will be offered to Croydon train station.

Upcoming dates

 Animal Rights Gathering 2006. This year's gathering will be held in Kent over the weekend from Fri 23rd to Mon 26th June. Come along and meet activists from all over the world, take part in workshops and discussions about everything from local campaigning to internet security to self defence. Check out the website at www.ar2006.info or give us a call on 0845 456 9496. You can either camp for the weekend, stay in a local B&B (We have lists) or just come for the day. Whichever you chosse you are most welcome.

 There are regular demos in London and with the good weather coming the numbers are growing. So if you are free any days in the week and live in London or the surrounding counties then please please contact us and we will let you know when the demo are happening over the following weeks.

Weeks of Action explained...

Hauliers to Hell week. The companies listed and the demos happening are against companies who deliver to HLS on a regular basis. The most evil of all these companies is PDP who are in and out of HLS on a daily basis.

World Week for Lab Animals & The following week of action against HLS customers. All the companies listed here are major customers in HLS.

Week of Action against the Mauritian Monkey farms. Huntingdon Life Sciences get almost 100% of their primates from BioCulture in Mauritius. The other companies listed in this week of action like Monock are involved in importing primates from Bioculture to Huntingdon.

Week of Action against HLS suppliers. This section covers companies who supply goods and services to HLS. Hummingbird supply HLS with computer software, BD biosciences with samples for experiments, Betz Dearborn supply chemicals and water treatment and Perkinelmer supply a whole host of goods for experiments at HLS. Phenomenex supply lab equipment to HLS.
