Update on Inside HLS 2005 report

Firstly we would like to say a big thankyou to all those who have written the letters we asked for in the last newsletter to HLS customers and the Home Office and to those who kindly donated. You know who you are and must always remember that without your regular donations there would be no SHAC. We know this infuriates HLS and Tony Blair but enough of him, he will be history soon and all together HLS not long after.

Some of you will have had letters back from the Home Office stating that the people who spoke to SHAC had withdrawn what they said. OK,so here goes, here is a full and frank version of what happened...

We were in the SHAC office one evening and took a call from a woman who was clearly distraught but wanted to talk. She immediately started to talk about what she had seen inside HLS, she had wanted to contact us sooner but did not know our details and as luck would have it as part of leafleting the area a SHAC leaflet had dropped through her letterbox a few days earlier. She was on the phone for nearly an hour but refused to give her name as she was nervous. She said she would call the next night.

She didn't call the next night or the night after so we thought nothing more of it. Then out of the blue about 2 weeks later she rang again and repeated what she said in her previous phone call plus more. At the end of the phonecall she agreed to meet two SHAC members who went to meet her the next week. After a friendly 3 hour meeting they decided to meet again. At the end of the meeting she handed over notes of what she had seen inside HLS (this had been suggested on the phone) and another meeting was arranged a few weeks later.

The same two SHAC members met her a few weeks later and had a similiar friendly meeting. About half way through the meeting she mentioned how two members of Scotland Yard had turned up saying that [redacted] and they were expecting a raid so could they set a camera up in her back bedroom. The two SHAC members looked at each other and thought 'Wait a minute, Scotland Yard come all the way out to a tiny village near Peterborough called Ramsey' (yeah like they do). Anyway at the end of this meeting we gave her some money. Not as has been reported for the diaries as we already had that on tape but because this woman and her daughter who had both worked inside HLS and had both written the diaries were skint and when they rang us they were both shelf stacking in Tesco's. We never heard from her again. But let me explain the crucial points.

1 Anyone who rings SHAC we have the ability to tape record. Obviously if you ring up then it is never ever tape recorded. We have this option for abusive phone calls, ringing suppliers for example who may say later that we have threatened them when we have not. It is basically there to cover ourselves. What this woman did not know and HLS when they wrote their desperate letter to their customers is that all her horror stories were tape recorded from her first phone call before we gave her any money. Right from the off, before we even knew her name, she catalogued a list of horrors inside HLS without any prompting.

2 This woman and her daughter were vulnerable. In fact she was so traumatised by what she saw inside HLS that she tried to kill herself. Ask yourself what was it she saw inside HLS that made her try to take her own life? Whilst she was recovering from her suicide attempt nobody from HLS contacted her to see why she hadn't turned up for work and none of her co workers who lived 2 minutes away ever turned up to see what was wrong. What heartless bastards.
Because she did not turn up for work HLS sacked her and her daughter.

3 This bit we can only summise but the moment she rang on our phone she was being tracked so high are the stakes to keep HLS open. The whole Scotland Yard scenario was just to check her out. I can see the picture... Cass sat on their sofa with a senior Cambridgeshire Police Officer telling them that unless they retracted what they had said they could go to jail for 2 years (which they could under the Animal Scientific Procedures Act) whilst these vulnerable people sobbed on their sofa and were bullied by the state.

4 One thing Cass, Cambridgeshire Police (AKA HLS security) and even the ex workers didn't know was that every word they had said from the off was tape recorded (crafty old SHAC eh?)

HLS were so desparate that they immediately sent an impersonal letter out to all their customers (as always it was leaked to us within 24 hours of it being sent) saying we had altered the notes and they were going to sue us. Great stuff we thought, so we can bring the tapes that they didn't know about out in open court. As always HLS are full of shit and haven't sued us. As always the customers who so frequently condemn us have gone silent. How cosy of the Home Office to do a nice pre arranged inspection of HLS after the ex workers talked (just like filmed on Countryside Undercover... ie the workers are punching dogs whilst the inspectors chit chat without seeing one single animal)

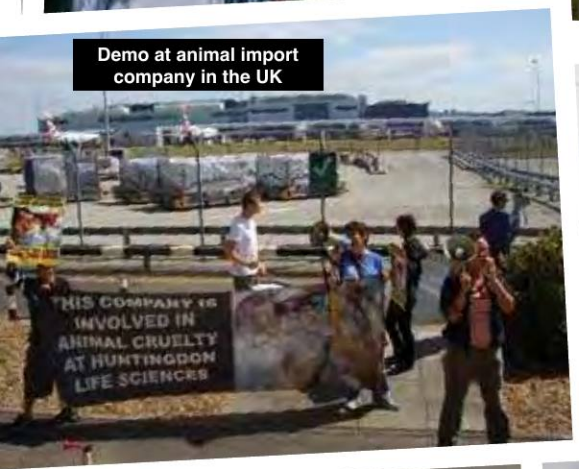

FACT We have all the facts on tape without prompting from the first minute she picked the phone up to us. Explain that one HLS and The Home Office.

er,

Recently 3 more countries have joined SHAC Global. They are Israel, Croatia and Denmark. There have been multiple demos against Huntingdon's customers in these three countries and we would like to say a warm welcome to SHAC Global to them.

The pictures above are from Croatia and as you can see they get good numbers out there. Israel is also a very welcome addition as two important HLS customers are based there Makhteshim Agan and Teva resulting in widespread media coverage with most of it negative towards Teva and Makhteshim. Denmark have been concentrating on important SHAC targets Roche and Arpida.

Looks like HLS are visiting the bank again...

Huntingdon's finances

On September 9th 2006 it was one year to the day since HLS were humiliated on the New York Stock Exchange. Since then their finances have gone from bad to worse.

Recently Huntingdon revealed that their debt had increased to its highest ever level of $100 million up from the previous $70 million. This is a massive debt burden that Huntingdon just cannot shake off and with every financial setback it makes their goal of getting rid of this debt ever more unrealistic. This can be seen from their refinancing last year where the CEO of Huntingdon Andrew Baker had to personally guarantee $30 million dollars of it. Can you imagine Richard Branson having to personally guarantee loans to Virgin? But there again these companies have got HLS where they want them as Huntingdon need them but they do not need HLS, this is again shown in the massive interest rates they are forced to pay.

Since the NYSE fiasco HLS have dropped from the OTCBB, The Pink Sheets and now flounder about on a concept known as the Grey Markets which is about as low as you can go. It is not uncommon for them to go a whole week without ONE single share being traded in HLS.

Huntingdon have still to lodge any accounts with companies house after 3 years, this is an unlawful breach of the Companies Act but hey this is Huntingdon so that's OK.

Fairly recently we uncovered Huntingdon's auditor in the US to be the New Jersey based Rotenberg, Meril, Solomon, Bertiger & Guttila. They have been acting as Huntingdon's auditor in the US under the fake name Hugh Scott (HLS still cannot find an auditor in the UK which they need to file accounts at Companies House. So the UK Government have said they will change the law so they can keep the auditor, if one can be found, secret)

This really shows how high the stakes are in the battle to close HLS. The role of an auditor is to be an independent body to oversee the finances of a company who they have no financial interest in. The idea is they are to be transparent so a shareholder can go to them and ask questions about a company where he might not receive a straight answer from the company in question because they have something to hide.

So how can anyone ask any questions of Huntingdon Life Sciences when the company listed as their auditor does not even exist? In setting up Hugh Scott we know that the US Government and the Securities and Exchange Commission in the US were closely involved and the UK Government were kept informed as to what was happening ie setting up a fake company to protect HLS. They must have been horrified to go to such lengths, bearing in mind this has never happened before (another SHAC world first) only to find out that the details are leaked to SHAC in the UK. How stupid of them to think we wouldn't find them. This serves as yet another warning to any company who thinks they can deal with HLS and get away with it.

Today Huntingdon Life Sciences are $100 million in debt, have no bank, have no insurance company, have no stock listing anywhere in the world, have no market makers, do not even own their own labs, have not filed accounts at Companies House in the UK for over 3 years. To top it all they do not even have a sign with the companies name on outside HLS so companies driving in to supply them do not realise they are delivering to Huntingdon Life Sciences, what a shambles!

How HLS must wish that money grew on trees.

SHAC Tour of

UK Tour Mon 16th - Fri 20th October
What will happen on the SHAC UK Tour?

The tour of the UK a few weeks ago was so succesful that we have decided to do it again. If we are coming to your area then please come and join us as Huntingdon's customers and suppliers need to see numbers outside their premises.

The start and finish times are listed here but in between we will be going to other companies to demonstrate. The full Itinerary is on our website www.shac.net or just contact us and we will send it to you. If you have your own placard or banner feel free to bring it along but most of all we need you.

We have a certain number of spaces on our minibus but they are limited so if you can organise your own transport more the better.

If you have never been on a demo before please don't worry as we are all friendly and fighting for the same cause. You will not be left on your own and will be made more than welcome.

If you can only come for an hour or so then great come along and make some noise. See you there.

Itinerary

These demos are specifically aimed at key suppliers and customers we know have used HLS in the last 12 months so every demo is important.

Some of us will be doing the whole UK tour and then straight into the European tour so if we are coming to YOUR area we and more than that that the animals need YOUR support and that means coming on the demos and joining in.

UK & Europe

Europe Tour Mon 23rd - Fri 27th October
What will happen on the SHAC Europe Tour?

Throughout the campain we have learnt that we need to get to the decision makers. For example demos outside Roche in the UK or Denmark are great but ultimately this needs to be done in conjunction with demos at their HQ in Switzerland as this is where the decisions are made.

We will start in Basel where Roche, Actelion, Novartis and Roche are based. These four companies are large HLS customers and between them have put tens of millions of pounds worth of contracts Huntingdon's way. If you want to come then just contact us but we will need £50 upfront to cover the cost of a seat on the minibus. This is all we are charging which is a snip seeing we are travelling to 4 different countries.

You will need to bring a sleeping bag and your own spending money but accomadation is provided. We leave about 7am ish on Sunday Morning the 22nd October and are aiming to be back in the UK Saturday morning 28th October.

For precise details of exactly what time we are leaving and from where just contact us.

We will be joined on the whole tour by activists from several European countries and we will also join up with activists in the countries we are visiting. Many of the companies we will be visiting have either never had demos outside their offices or certainly not large ones.

So what are you waiting for? Come to Europe on the SHAC Europe tour and make the animals voices heard outside the headquarters of some of the largest HLS customers in the world. Want to be effective then come and demo the decision makers. All you need to do is contact us.

SHA

Listed on these pages are companies that are all currently dealing with HLS. Please contact them politely and inform them about the report you have just been reading. There is no need to be rude to these people: the facts exposed yet again at HLS should be enough for any right-minded person to make an ethical decision to not deal with cruel, incompetent, fraudulent HLS. You are the animals' ambassadors and speak on their behalf, so put your points across firmly and clearly by letter, phone call and email. Remember HLS have lost hundreds of suppliers so if you take the time to speak out for the animals trapped inside their cages at HLS, IT WORKS!

Never forget a face

This dog is so frightened she will not even look at the person taking the picture. This dog has a surgical jacket on which means that she has had painful invasive surgery. Look at her and you will see she is being starved as part of the experiment but most of all look at her then close your eyes and never forget her face...

We at SHAC are an Action based campaign. SHAC is a campaign everyone should feel proud to belong to, I know I do. We have no time for politicians or any of that bullshit because we know they will not save her or make change, history tells us that. Like we say, words mean nothing action is everything so what do we want? Here I will spell it out loud and clear.

1 Demos. You have the diary dates and you can see the demo dates so come on them.
2 Phone calls and emails. Please ring all the companies in this newsletter as a priority. You can sign up to our email action alert list via our website www.shac.net
3 Donate money. One thing is for sure, you know your donations are not going to pay some director's wages, every penny goes to what you are reading about in this newsletter. For example the UK and European tour need to be paid for so, if you can, please donate.
TOGETHER WE WILL WIN BUT IT NEEDS ALL OF US. THANK YOU XXX
