xULTRAMILITANCEx #6

only through the use of militant direct action will we achieve total liberation

Until the last cage is smashed open, the last chains of slavery broken, the last Earth destroying machine dismantled and the last corporate edifice toppled our resistance will continue.

Let the message to all who victimize the innocent be clear: We're watching. And by axe, drill, or crowbar -- we're coming through your door.

xULTRAMILITANCEx is dedicated to all those brave enough to risk their lives and liberty in the name of Earth and animal liberation

Slowly but surely we chip away at the bastions of evil. Brick by brick dismantling the edifices of mechanised brutality. Faced with increasing repression we continue to press forward, striving to bring an end to the exploitation of animals and the Earth, an exploitation that has become so deeply embedded in human culture.

Under cover of darkness we proudly march towards our ultimate goal of total liberation. Our bolt croppers and compassion against the might of the Earth and animal abuse industries (backed by the government and police) may not seem like much, but our No Compromise attitude has allowed us to continue where others would have failed.

In our hearts we know a new world is possible. Every animal freed from a factory farm, every piece of Earth raping machine destroyed, every corporate store attacked with stones and passion, fills us with hope and the knowledge that we can win this struggle.

UNTIL ALL ARE FREE

xultramilitancex@donteatmeat.com

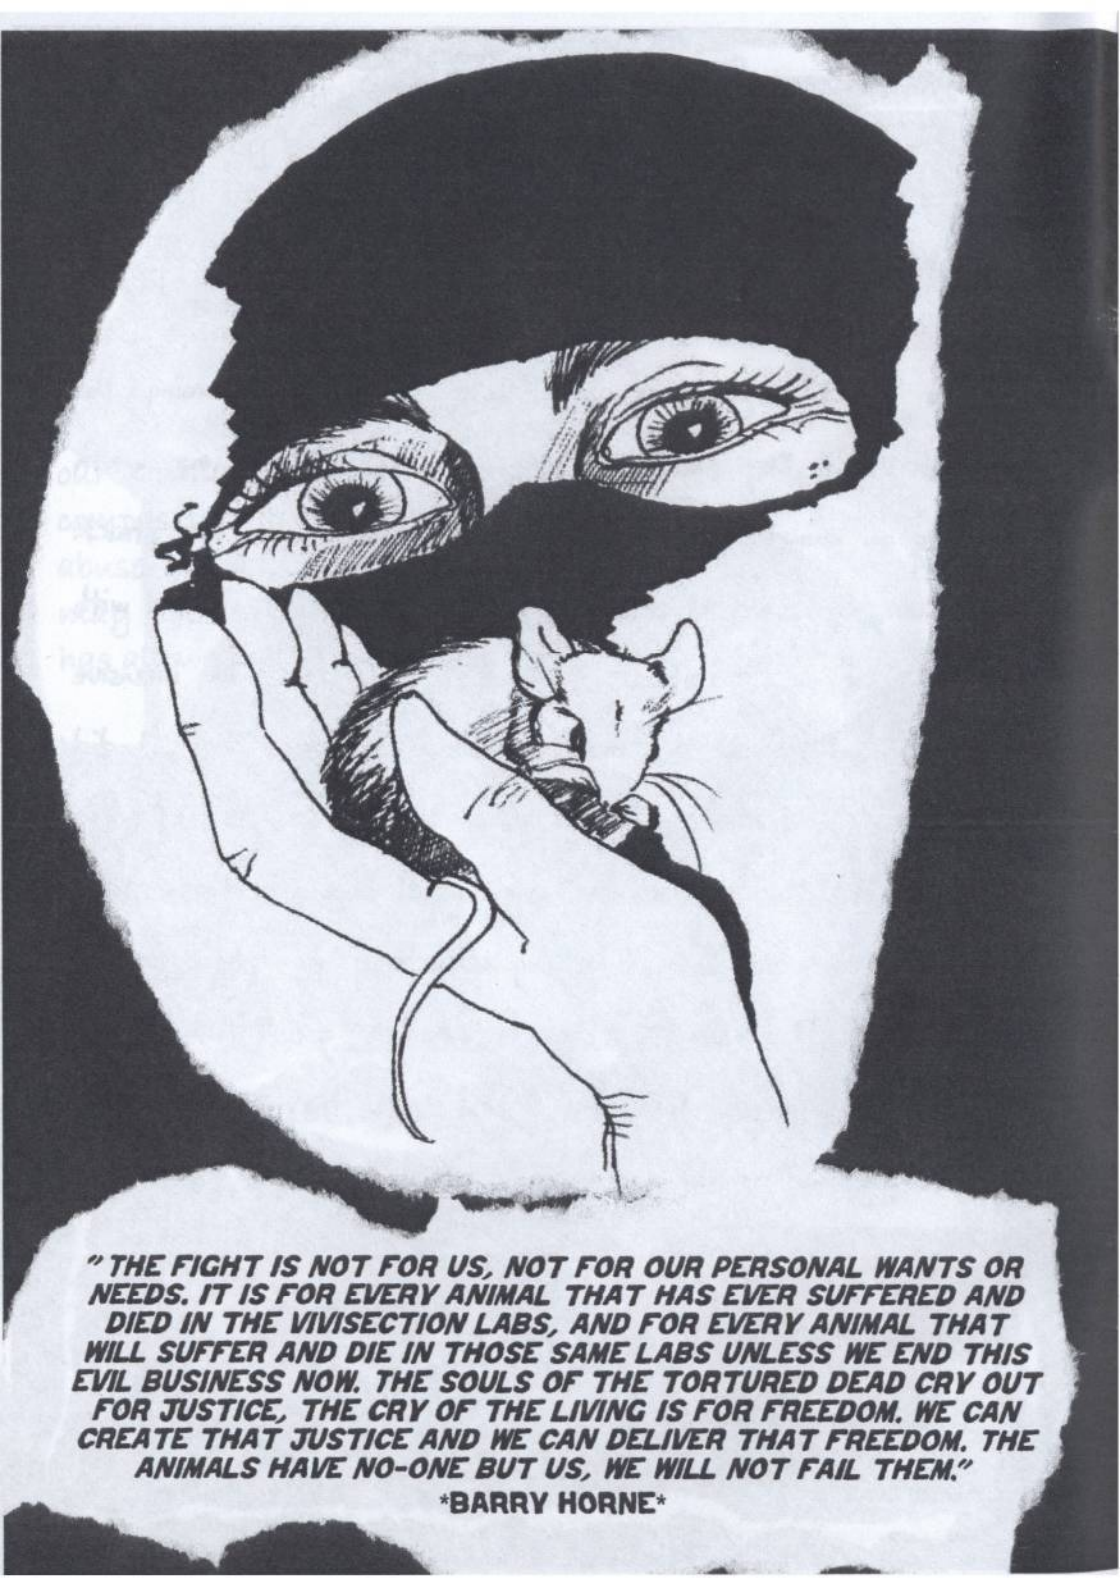

"As a direct response to the state repression concerning the official World Day for Lab Animals march we bent our wrath towards an animal abuse establishment in Lincolnshire. We struck where we would not be suspected, after all we are at war with all forms of animal torture... our target tonight was an intensive duck farm – fuelling the greed of Britain's sadistic diet. It did not take long for our cell to round up 107 of the delightful birds...As dawn broke over the avian death camp in Lincolnshire, our new found friends were getting accustomed to their new life. It was a joy to behold as they frolicked in grass, and splashed about in their water bowls – the first water they had ever been able to play in." – ALF communiqué 27/05/05

"THE FIGHT IS NOT FOR US, NOT FOR OUR PERSONAL WANTS OR NEEDS. IT IS FOR EVERY ANIMAL THAT HAS EVER SUFFERED AND DIED IN THE VIVISECTION LABS, AND FOR EVERY ANIMAL THAT WILL SUFFER AND DIE IN THOSE SAME LABS UNLESS WE END THIS EVIL BUSINESS NOW. THE SOULS OF THE TORTURED DEAD CRY OUT FOR JUSTICE, THE CRY OF THE LIVING IS FOR FREEDOM. WE CAN CREATE THAT JUSTICE AND WE CAN DELIVER THAT FREEDOM. THE ANIMALS HAVE NO-ONE BUT US, WE WILL NOT FAIL THEM."

BARRY HORNE

THE BAND OF MERCY

We know versions this article has been printed in a number of other publications, but we feel it's important to know where the modern day animal liberation movement came from. The article has been extensively edited.

In 1971, as part of the growing Hunt Saboteur Association (HSA) network, a sab group was formed in Luton by a law student named Ronnie Lee. The Luton hunt sabs, like a lot of other groups, soon became very successful in saving the lives of wild animals and many a hunt found their days entertainment ruined by the Luton Gang.

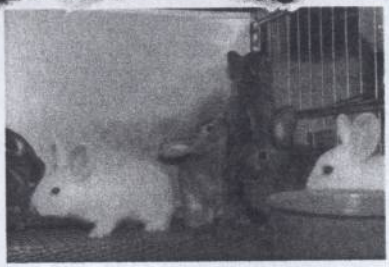

Despite the success of the Luton sabs, it soon became apparent to some within the group that the legal actions of the HSA could only ever go so far to prevent animal suffering. The problem was that if a hunt is allowed to be active, no matter how good a sab group may be, there is a chance that an animal may be harmed or killed. With this in mind, Ronnie Lee, Cliff Goodman and possibly two or three other people, decided to form the Band of Mercy in 1972.

The name Band of Mercy was chosen because it had been used by an earlier animal liberation group. During the 19th century, an anti-slavery activist named Catherine Smithies had set up a youth wing to the RSPCA called the Bands of Mercy involving hundreds of children across the country. By and large these youth groups were just normal young supporters of the RSPCA who told stories of heroic animal deeds and who took oaths of compassion to the animals. However some of these young Victorian animal rights activists were a little more zealous than others and went around sabotaging hunting rifles. The activities of the Victorian Bands of Mercy became so great there was even a play written about them, the play portrays a young lady pouring water down the barrels of a gun belonging to Mr Quickshot the pigeon-shooter and dipping all his cartridges in warm water. The gun barrels subsequently burst in Mr Quickshot's face.

Initially, the Band of Mercy concentrated on small actions against the Whaddon Chase, Vale of Aylesbury, Puckeridge and Thurlow Hunts during the cubbing season, these were simple actions designed around the idea of disabling hunt vehicles in order to slow down or stop the hunt from carrying out its murderous activities, hound vans had tyres slashed and gates were locked to prevent access. Importantly the Band of Mercy made it clear from the outset that they were not merely carrying out acts of wanton vandalism but instead their actions were designed around the idea of 'active compassion'. This meant the Band would always leave a message to the hunters explaining why the actions had been carried out and to show that there was nothing personal against any one individual person.

The success of the Band of Mercy soon became apparent. Recognizing their true potential the Band then started to think about ways to expand and develop their campaigns, becoming much more daring. Towards the end of 1973, they learnt about the construction of a new vivisection laboratory near Milton Keynes for a company called Hoechst Pharmaceutical. Two of the Band's activists visited the half-built vivisection lab a few times whilst trying to decide the best course of action to be taken. They knew that if they could prevent the building from ever being completed, they could prevent the suffering of animals destined to be tortured within its four walls. The best way they decided to do these was through the use of arson. This would destroy the building and even if the damage caused by the fire was repaired, it would cost Hoechst Pharmaceutical money.

On November 10th 1973, activists gained access to the half completed building at Milton Keynes and set it on fire. This action was a double watershed for the movement as it was not only the Band's first action against the vivisection industry; it was also the Band's first use of arson. This fire alone caused an amazing £26,000 worth of damage and incredibly the Band of Mercy returned six days later and started another fire in the same building causing a further £20,000 of damage.

"The building was set fire to in an effort to prevent the torture and murder of our animal brothers and sisters by evil experiments. We are a non-violent guerrilla organization dedicated to the liberation of animals from all forms of cruelty and persecution at the hands of mankind. Our actions will continue until our aims are achieved".

After the Milton Keynes arson, the next major action occurred in June 1974 when the Band turned its attention to the bloody seal cull along the Norfolk coast. The cull was an annual event and involved hunters going out in two Home Office licensed boats to butcher seals. With the goal of preventing the cull from ever starting and regarding the success in the use of arson in the November 1973 action, the Band once again decided to use fire to destroy the tools of animal murder.

Under the cover of darkness, two activists sought out the boats and set them alight. Although one of the boats was only slightly damaged the other was totally destroyed. As a result of these actions there was no cull that year... and there has not been one since.

Following this action the Band of Mercy launched an intensive wave of campaigning against the vivisection industry. Between June and August 1974 the Band launched eight raids against lab animal suppliers. The main emphasis being to cause damage to buildings or vehicles, but marking another landmark in their history they also carried out their first-ever animal rescue when six guinea pigs were rescued. Amazingly the farm owner was so shaken by the raid and the fear that more activists would turn up during the night she closed her business.

In conjunction with their anti-vivisection activity the Band continued to take actions against hunts as well as targeting chicken breeders and the firearm lobby. In July 1974, a gun shop in Marlborough was attacked and damaged. The original Victorian Bands of Mercy would surely be proud that their deeds were being continued in a twentieth-century form.

For a small group of friends, consisting of less than half a dozen activists, the Band of Mercy was able to make a tremendous impact against the animal abusers... they luck however was about to run out. In August 1974 the Band of Mercy targeted Oxford Laboratory Animal Colonies in Bicester. The first action was a success. But when the Band of Mercy returned two days later the activists, Ronnie Lee and Cliff Goodman, were spotted by a security guard who called the police, resulting in the arrest of both of them.

If the police had hoped that these arrests would bring an end to the Band of Mercy, they were mistaken. The arrest of Ronnie and Cliff gave a fresh wave of publicity to the Band of Mercy. Rather than being regarded as terrorists, many people viewed them as heroes, as a sort of latter day Robin Hood for the animals.

In prison Ronnie discovered that provisions for vegans were less than desirable. So to try and assure a decent meal and proper vegan clothing he went on hunger strike. This gained a great deal of media attention and once again the issue of animal liberation was being openly discussed. Ronnie soon expanded his hunger strike demands to include issues revolving around Porton Down, the Government's chemical and biological warfare research station, where horrific animal experimentation are conducted. The media frenzy surrounding the hunger strike was spectacular and with all the unwanted attention, the prison soon had to back down and supply Ronnie with his vegan provisions. Sadly a positive outcome was not achieved regarding Porton Down.

Whilst these 2 activists were imprisoned a few raids still occurred with the most notable being one in 1975 carried out by Mike Huskisson who managed to rescue two beagles from ICI that were being used in tobacco smoking experiments. Mike was arrested for the action and charged with burglary. However I.C.I. bottled out of a trial fearing the adverse publicity.

"Many of the Band of Mercy raids involved setting fire to property such as vehicles used for transporting animals, and offices remote from breeding rooms... I am pleased to say that raids were still being carried out whilst we were in prison."

Both Cliff Goodman and Ronnie Lee only served a third of their sentence and were paroled after 12 months in the spring of 1976. Being in jail had affected the prisoners in totally different ways. Unfortunately Cliff effectively turned informer and give the police a great deal of information about the use of radios by the Band of Mercy. Ronnie, on the other hand, was given a new sense of determination and realized there was widespread public support for direct action in the name of animal liberation. Upon his release Ronnie gathered together the remains of the Band of Mercy as well as a couple of dozen new 'recruits' and infused with new ideas and a new revolutionary feel changed the name of the group to the Animal Liberation Front. Since then the ALF has evolved into a group whose very name can strike fear into the hearts of animal abusers. A group that has spread round the world and which has directly saved many thousands of animals from exploitation and abuse. The ALF is a group which anyone can join simply by carrying out direct action in the name of animal liberation. Support the ALF.

UNTIL ALL ARE FREE

An old Hopi prophecy says that some time in the future, the animals would begin to disappear. People would no longer see the wolf, or the bear, or the eagles. And, the story goes, the giant trees would also disappear. And people would fight with each other and not love each other. And, the story goes, the beautiful rainbow in the sky would fade away, and people would not see the rainbow anymore... That time is now.

It was also said that children would come. And these children would love the animals, and they would bring back the animals. They would love trees, and they would bring back the giant trees. And these children would love other people and they would help people to live in peace with, each other. And these children would love the rainbow, and they would bring back the beautiful rainbow in the sky. For this reason the Hopi called these children the Rainbow Warriors. These children are now arriving. These children are those brave people involved in the Earth & animal liberation struggles. And these children will make the Hopi prophecy come true.

By whatever means necessary, free the animals, save the Earth and destroy Babylon.

ACTIONS CARRIED OUT DURING THE 2005 WORLD WEEK FOR LAB ANIMALS

UK - Bridget's Farm Rabbit Research Station (Central Science Laboratory) is trashed, many documents removed and traps for wild rabbits destroyed. "As well as blueprints to the site, and all of their research, we also removed addresses, phone numbers, and their contacts at other animal abuse facilities... Following the ransacking of the office, we attacked the runs where rabbits are often kept. They were all empty this time, but we made sure they could never be used again. Holes were cut in them, before they were physically ripped to shreds."

UK - 107 ducklings reared for meat rescued from breeding shed in Lincolnshire. "As midnight struck, so did we, and the door to the unit was wrenched off of its hinges. Our masked-up commando's slid into the shed, where they were greeted by the calls of thousands of adorable ducklings. - ALF"

UK - 23 vehicles belonging to Wickham Lab supplier White Rose have tyres slashed and are attacked with paint & paint stripper. "Those who seek to profit from or support animal torture... will be found and punished for their crimes. That's not a threat but a promise, ALF."

UK - Nottingham University lab conducting research into improving meat yields from lambs is ransacked. "Free the animals or you will face the consequences. We are watching you, ALF"

USA - 21 mice liberated in a daring raid on the Louisiana State University animal facility. "Our aim in inflicting as much economic damage as possible is to drive up the cost of animal experimentation until this sadistic psuedo-science is no longer economically feasible. - ALF"

UK - Williton Box Company in Somerset who supply cardboard boxes to the vivisection industry targeted with a sophisticated arson attack. "This is what happens when peaceful protest is banned. This fire was lit by the undemocratic injunctions, the police restrictions of the World Day march, and the outrageous sentencing of fellow activists. If you thought all this would stop us, you were wrong. You have created a firestorm which is engulfing the animal testing fraternity. - ALF"

USA - Glaxo collaborator visited "We silently poured paint stripper all over her two cars".

USA - Money from Forest Lab Director redirected from his account to various charities. Huge amount of personal information also released. "You and Forest can begin to make things right by making a public statement that Forest Labs will no longer have a customer contract with HLS. - ALF"

A NEW DAWN BREAKING
FREE THE ANIMALS

In a world where non-human animals are treated like machines, a world where money is valued over life, it is our duty to stand up for our animal brothers and sisters. They cannot speak for themselves and so we will take up their battle cry. Their screams will be our screams, their pain will be our pain, their anger will be our anger and their need for justice will be ours. Every act of human harm or abuse inflicted against them is another piece of fuel on the fire of liberation that burns in our hearts. We will end the bloodshed, we will end the suffering and we will deal out justice to those who think they have dominion over non-human life.
The animals have no one but us
We will not fail them.
www.directaction.info www.shac.net
www.spiritoffreedom.org.uk www.vpsg.org www.guineapigs.org.uk www.nocompromise.org www.speakcampigns.org.uk www.freebeagles.org
www.arkangelweb.org

Sit in a pub and drink beer if you want... we're going out to save the world!

This zine has been criticised for lacking self-love and for its message being one of imposed rigidity based on its drug-free undertones. People have said that in nature there is not such rigid control over what you can and cannot do and so the idea of purposely living poison free is against the idea of embracing nature in all its glory. Our answer to this is yes, by living drug-free we have imposed restrictions on our lives, but it is a personal decision and one we have no desire to force onto others, a decision made for ourselves, that suits and helps our own desires, dreams and actions as well as impacting in a positive way on the Earth in general, (veganism on the other hand is a different matter, and is a lifestyle choice that should be adopted by all who can if we wish to halt the widespread desecration of our earth).

Many amazing, inspiring and dedicated people show that they can be just as effective Earth or animal liberation warriors by consuming drugs, however we have also seen many others fall to the lure of intoxication and as individuals we feel that drugs will only hinder us, cloud our minds, damage our health, impair our mental and physical agility and waste valuable money and time that could be used elsewhere. As for lacking self-love, no other animal species has such a negative, degrading aspect to their lives as humans do in terms of their love for money, power and intoxication and so we shun these things both out of love and respect for ourselves but also out of love and respect for our fellow man, for the Earth and all the animals we share it with.

For us straightedge is not an act of sacrifice or a burden of daily sufferance, it is merely a tool from our collective arsenal of weapons that we have willingly chosen to use in order to aid our fight for Earth, self and animal liberation. Whether others should choose to use it is for them to decide.

It is a shame we have to justify our lifestyle choice, especially when many of those who criticize are too busy indulging themselves to truly make a useful contribution to the fight for liberation, but we feel our opinion should be made clear.

To all people who carry out altruistic actions in the name of animal or Earth liberation we send our love, our respect, our admiration and our unconditional support.

Until all are free

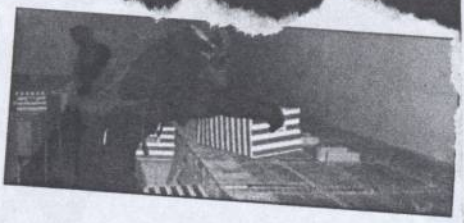

They lived in a small wooden hut, just a few of them, happy & content. Over time their numbers grew & so they used stone to make their hut into a small tower. Their numbers continued to rise & so they developed new technologies & used metal & concrete to turn their small tower into a huge tower. They weren't happy with this though & their new found lust for power, decadence & dominance drove them to make the tower even bigger. Workers were sent to the bottom of the structure to collect bits of concrete, stone & metal & then carry them to the top where they were put in place to make the tower even taller. No one thought about the consequences, some people said it was a bad idea but no one really did much to stop it. More & more was taken from the bottom of the tower until the inevitable happened & with its base so weakened & spoilt the whole tower came crashing down.

The moral: If we don't protect & don't stop damaging & taking from the Earth - the foundation upon which all life is based, then like the tower everything will come crumbling & crashing down upon us. The potential future of dusty ruins on a lifeless planet is one we must prevent at all costs.

Earth Liberation & Eco-Defence Now

Remember the first time you saw those terrified beagles being punched at HLS...

Remember the first time you saw exhausted animals being carried in the back of a live export lorry...

Remember the first time you heard the screams of a monkey being dragged from its cage and strapped into a restraining device...

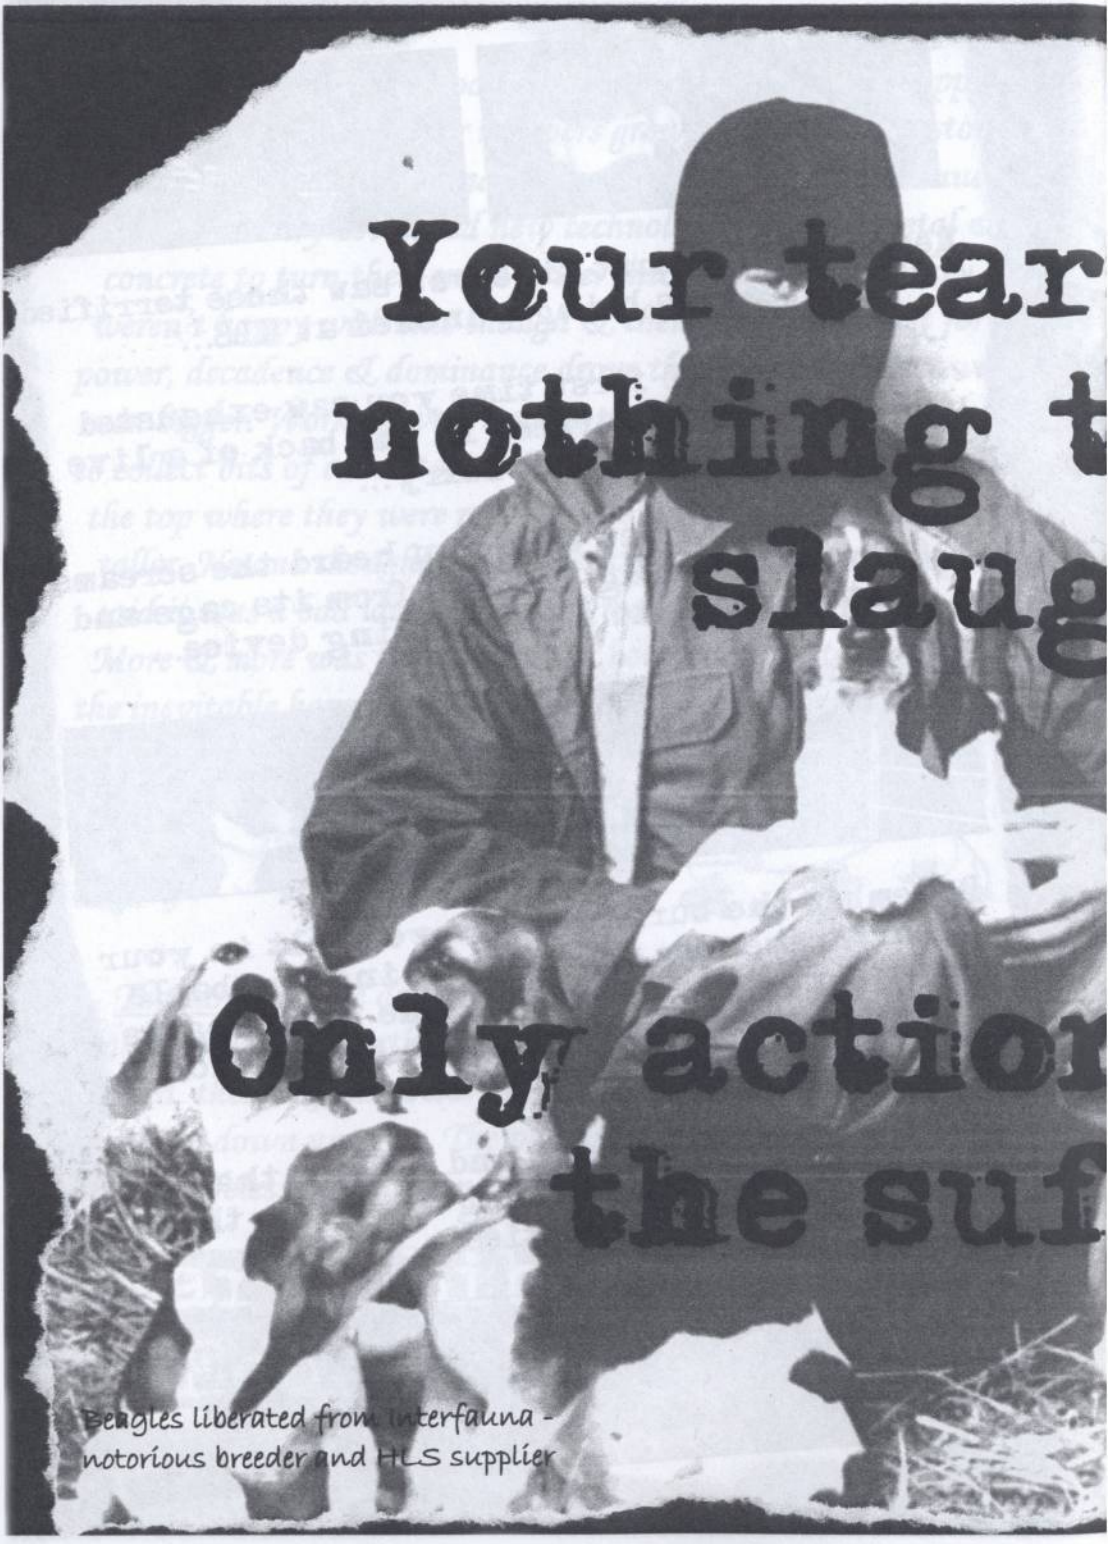

Remember the burning rage you felt in your heart, remember the tears of indescribable hatred you wept, remember the unstoppable desire you had to bring an end to such barbaric acts...

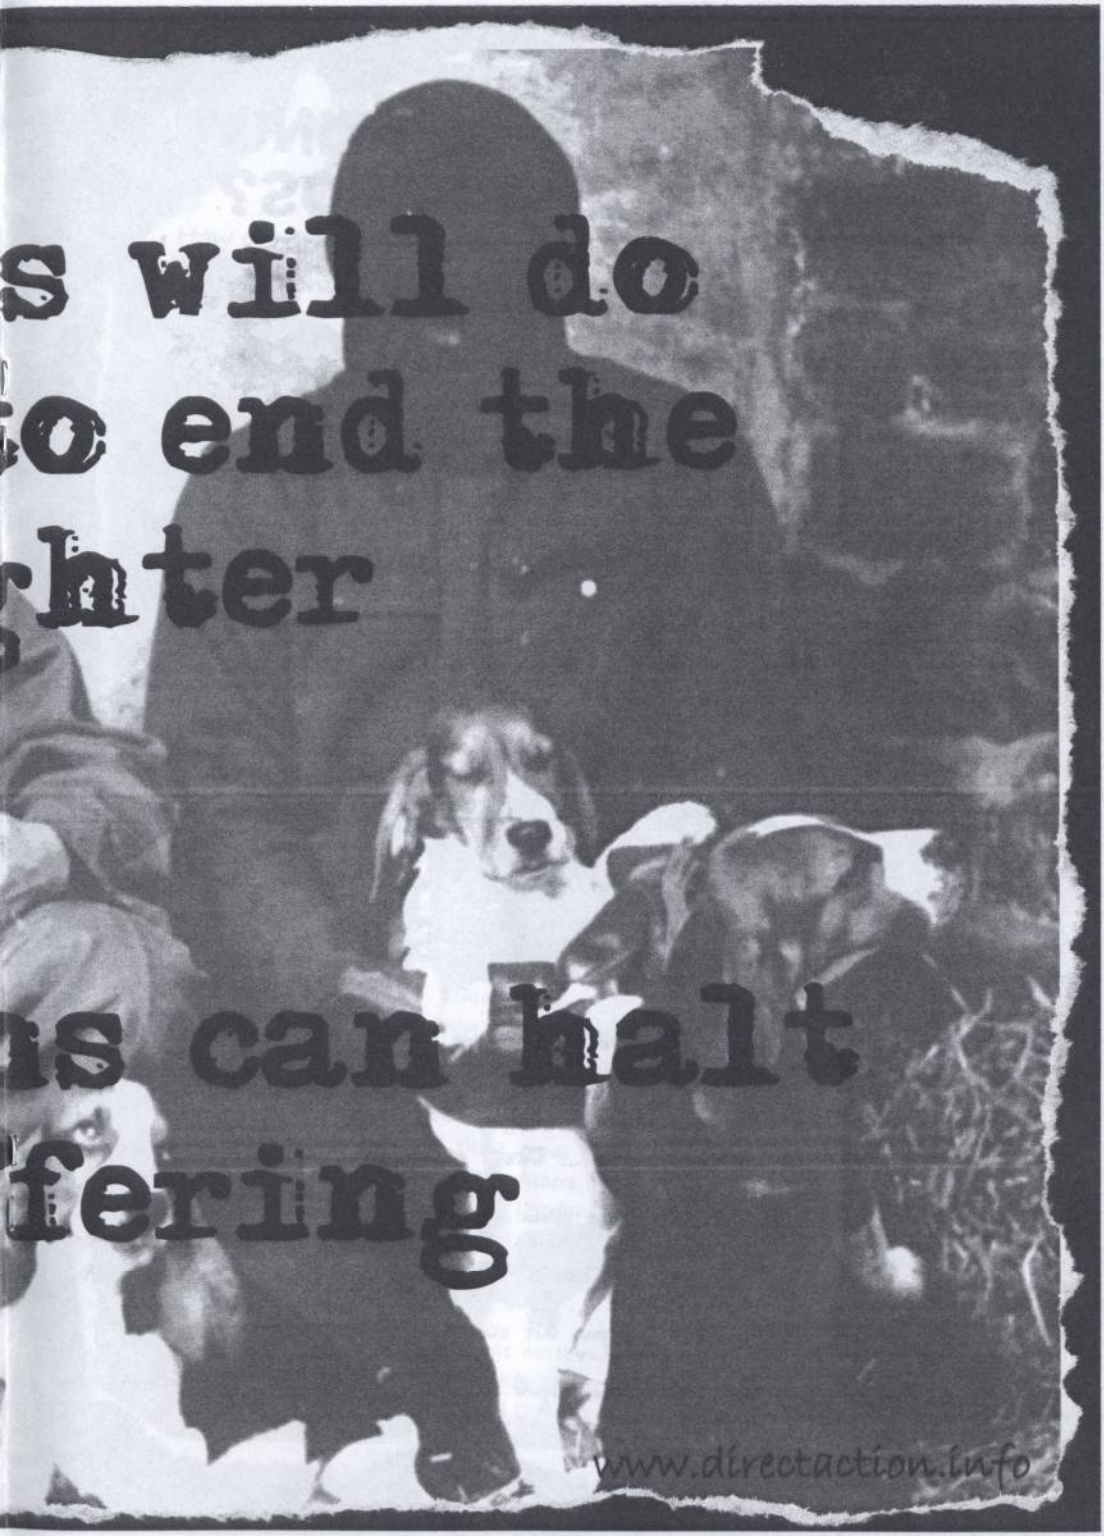

Remember those feelings and realise that via direct action we can bring an end to these atrocities

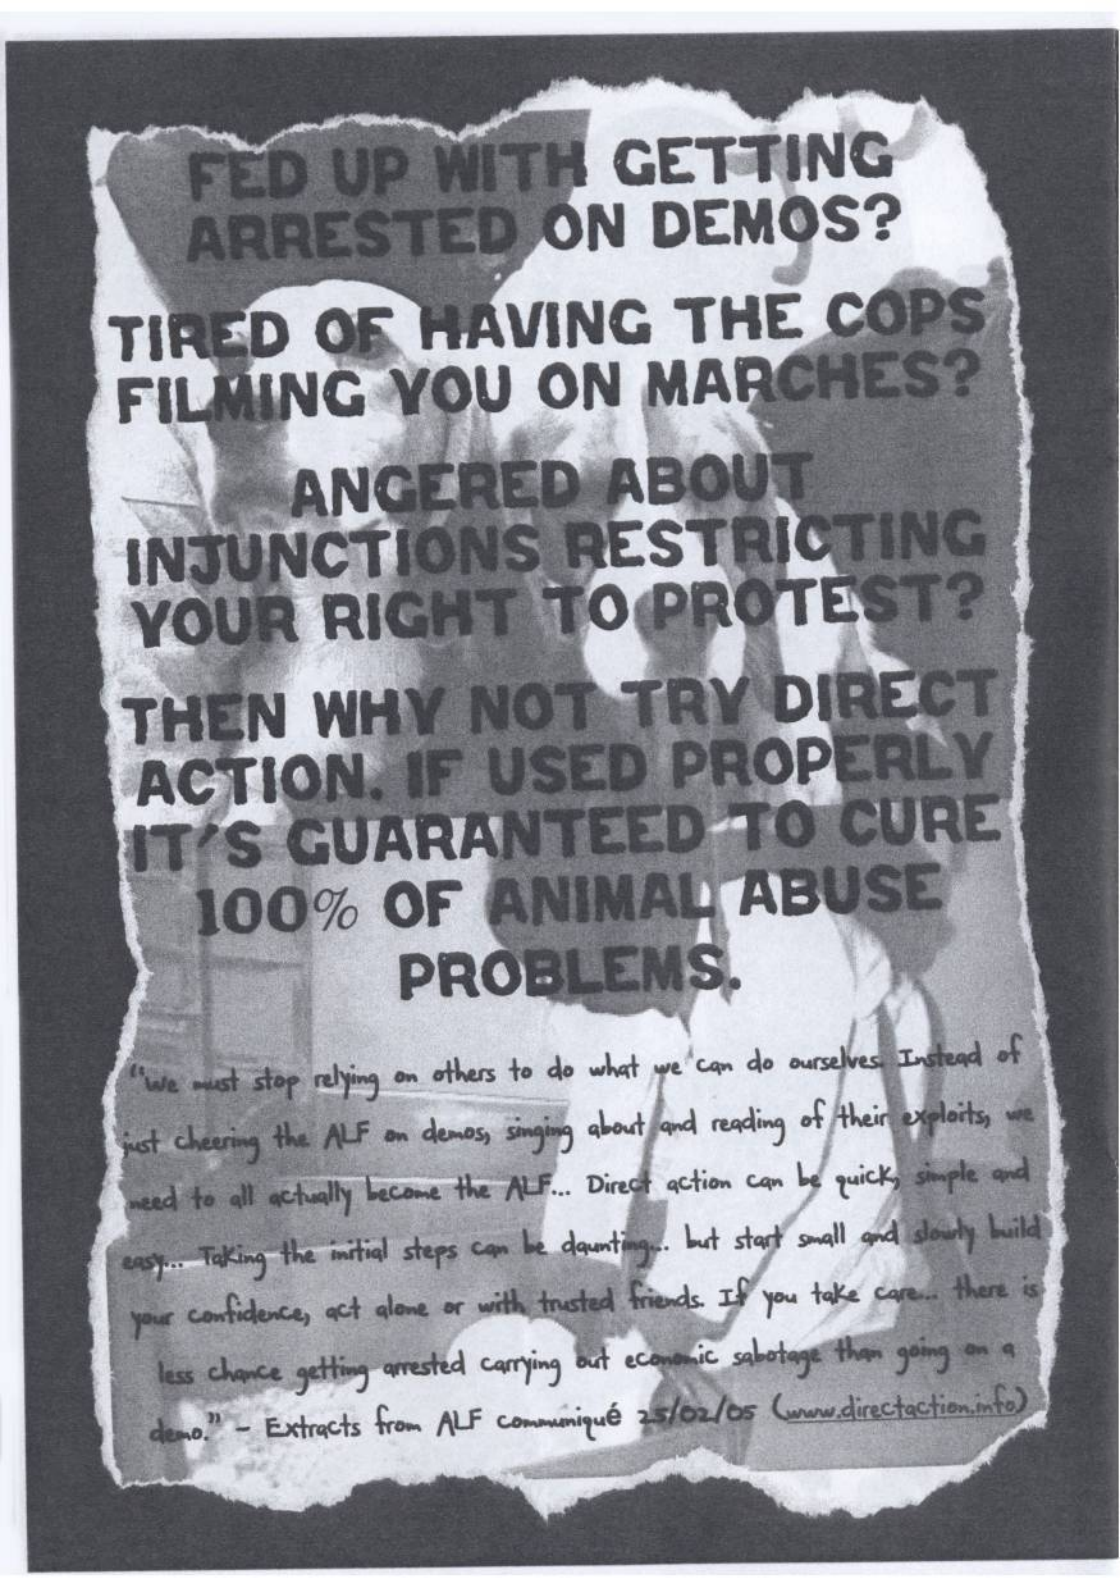

Beagles liberated from Interfauna - notorious breeder and HLS supplier

s will do
o end the rhter
ns can halt
fering
www.directaction.info

FED UP WITH GETTING ARRESTED ON DEMOS?
TIRED OF HAVING THE COPS FILMING YOU ON MARCHES?
ANGERED ABOUT INJUNCTIONS RESTRICTING YOUR RIGHT TO PROTEST?
THEN WHY NOT TRY DIRECT ACTION. IF USED PROPERLY IT'S GUARANTEED TO CURE 100% OF ANIMAL ABUSE PROBLEMS.
"We must stop relying on others to do what we can do ourselves. Instead of just cheering the ALF on demos, singing about and reading of their exploits, we need to all actually become the ALF... Direct action can be quick, simple and easy... Taking the initial steps can be daunting... but start small and slowly build your confidence, act alone or with trusted friends. If you take care... there is less chance getting arrested carrying out economic sabotage than going on a demo." - Extracts from ALF communiqué 25/02/05 (www.directaction.info)

Breaking free!

War on terror. War on drugs.

How about a war on poverty? A war on corporate greed? A war on environmental destruction? A war on apathy?

We know the answer, although these 'wars' would help the majority of mankind, they wouldn't benefit the ruling elite, a war on terror does. It ensures the weapons factories they own are kept busy and profitable, it means they can restrict and curb the rights of the general populace, it means they can lock up and intimidate those they see as a potential threat; Falun Gong practitioners in China; political opponents, indigenous resistance fighters, ALF and ELF activists. It means they can carry out pre-emptive strikes against countries that aren't doing what they want and then help themselves to the natural resources found there. It means they can invent their own terrorist threats to keep the public in line, not daring to speak out, confused and blind to the inconsistency and corruption of their government. The fact the policies of our glorious leaders are only fuelling the growth of terrorism keeps the cycle alive. A war on terror is good for the rich.

We know that spending dollars on saving the worlds vanishing ecosystems doesn't help the bank accounts of the rich, but having a farcical war on drugs whilst surreptitiously encouraging and supporting the drugs trade does. The methods currently being employed to stop the drugs trade will never work, the ruling elite know this, they know that as long as they continue removing unfavourable dealers and traffickers from the supply chain they help keep the drugs economy healthy, pushing up the price, which in turn encourages new people to get involved. We know that government agencies can be directly blamed for the increase in drug use and hence drug related crime. The CIA (always the prime example) is intrinsically involved with the drugs economy, just look at how they turn a blind eye to and aid those drug producers who act as allies: Afghan drug traffickers, Pakistani heroin smugglers, producers in Bolivia & Peru, opium dealers in Burma & Laos, military drug lords in Thailand and Panama, Colombian cocaine cartels in Nicaragua and Costa Rica. On top of this American banks make huge amounts of money on dept-repayments from countries including Mexico and Peru, countries which rely heavily on drug money to prevent these debts bankrupting them.

Isn't it the rich who are striving to increase work output from the enslaved masses? and who through the media are encouraging the monotonous, repressive nature of modern life, a life which people seem increasingly intent on escaping through the use of drugs? Isn't it true that drugs are extremely useful for disrupting the activities of political opponents and throughout history have been used to keep all those undesirable sections of the population under control; the poor, the Black Panthers, hippies, mutinous soldiers, travellers, Native Americans, the Kalahari Bushmen. Isn't it true that it helps being friends with drugs traffickers, after all wasn't it the Corsican drug gangs the CIA used to break the Communist dock strikes in Marseilles? Wasn't it the American mafia syndicates the CIA turned to when it attempted to assassinate Fidel Castro? Haven't they used the Sicilian Mafia to carry out their dirty work?

The war on drugs and terror is a good public relations exercise, giving the ruling class a steady stream of positive media coverage. 'Look how good and Christian they are standing up against those evil drug-fuelled terrorists'. This positive media coverage hides the slaughter of indigenous peoples such as those in Columbia, it hides the devastation of their homes and farms and the squalid conditions they are forced to live in, it hides the huge arms deals between America and Columbia which they say are required to fight the drugs trade but which we can see are being used to protect those all important oil pipelines. It hides the fact that an increasingly rich Western world is driving more of the worlds poor into the drugs and sex industries in order for them to scrape a living.

For the rich the war on drugs provides an ideal front behind which to hide their cocaine fuelled decadent lives, hiding the fact that the US economy has such a huge amount of drugs money invested in it that many greedy financial institutions would collapse without it. Yes a war on drugs and terror is good for the rich & powerful. Being able to control and maintain the cycles of abuse, poverty, intoxication & terror are the perfect ways through which they can keep the general public placid and scared...

The elite now have a problem though, as more & more people are deciding to disrupt their schemes & to distance themselves from the destructive abusive nature of modern man. On a personal level we feel that by living Vegan Straightedge we have taken the first (albeit small) steps towards breaking free and helping destroy the cycles of exploitation, fear, war and greed. This militant & positive lifestyle combined with education, community unification & of course direct action gives us hope that we will slowly be able to destroy the suffering & misery that holds our current social structure together. With heads held high we look towards the horizon, towards the dawning of a new day, the day of total liberation.

Until all are free

VEGAN STRAIGHTEDGE XXX

Unlock the Labs

"WORDS ARE CHEAP. ONLY ACTIONS REALLY COUNT. THIS IS NOT FOR ME; IT IS FOR EVERY ANIMAL IN EVERY TORTURE LAB. WE ARE CREATING A TURNING POINT - A MOMENT IN HISTORY THAT WILL BE REMEMBERED. NEVER DOUBT THIS. WE WILL SEE AN END TO THIS EVIL."

BARRY HORNE

VENGEANCE FOR THE DEAD, FREEDOM FOR THE ENSLAVED

ROUND UP OF ALF ACTIONS: March-June 2005 (www.directaction.info)

Whilst the majority of the population sit back and ignore the genocide inflicted upon non-human animals, the brave few will stand strong and carry on launching liberation and economic sabotage attacks to ensure that the war against the animal nations continues to have two sides. Only when the last cage is empty will this struggle for liberation cease.

BRAVE HEARTS FORWARD!

June 21, 2005 – UK
Cars belonging to a friend of Newchurch and a vivisector who tests on guinea pigs trashed

June 20, 2005 – Finland
Fire destroys building at a fur farm

June 18, 2005 – UK
Number of HLS collaborators have homes and cars attacked; DHL, Business Post, Phytopharm (arson attack), Forum Biosciences & Atofina

June 17, 2005 – UK
Deer and bison released from farm

"The last we saw of the bison and deer they were roaming off into the darkness towards the nearest wood."

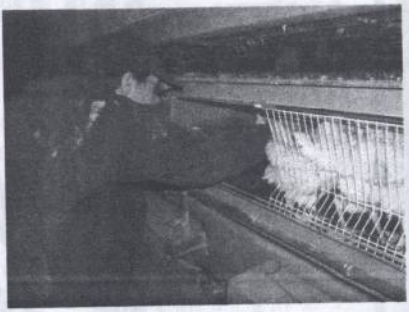

June 16, 2005 – USA
HLS associate Abbott Labs have windows etched

June 15, 2005 – Spain
Covance monkey facility closes after arson attack

June 15, 2005 – Norway
Fire destroys 2 empty buildings at a fox farm

June 15, 2005 – Sweden
9 rabbits & 10 guinea pigs liberated from farm

June 14, 2005 - Germany
4 chickens rescued

June 14, 2005 – Spain
President of Spanish Society for Animal Laboratory Sciences gets house spraypainted

June 14, 2005 - Netherlands, Belgium & Denmark
Actions against BPRC associates in the Netherlands, activists arrested smashing up a fur shop and McDonalds in Belgium and fur shop attacked in Denmark

June 14, 2005 – Spain
2000 mink liberated from fur farm

June 11, 2005 – Finland
Fur farm raided, foxes released, breeding cards destroyed

"We wish to all animal abusers a miserable and financially lousy summer, we also urge all friends of the animals to act: animals in fur farms, labs and other factory farms need YOU"

June 10, 2005 – Austria
16 chickens liberated

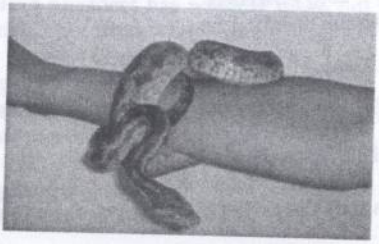

June 9, 2005 – Russia
180 ferrets released from fur farm and 3000 mice released from breeder.

"The cages were overcrowded with ferrets. Activists took away in bags more than 180 ferrets and released them far away from the fur farm in forest."

June 7, 2005 – Italy
8 rabbits liberated from farm

June 6, 2005 – USA
Snake liberated from high school lab

June 4, 2005 – Sweden
Arson at mink farm destroys 2 buildings

June 3, 2005 - New Zealand
8 chickens liberated from stinking sheds

"Determined and under the cover of darkness we quickly gained entry to free these animals."

June 2, 2005 – Ireland
Activists superglue locks, spray-paint slogans and attack a vehicle belonging to the owner of a field to be used by travelling circus

June 2, 2005 – Finland
100 foxes released from fur farm

"This raid is dedicated to Peter Young. It is also dedicated to all whom animal liberation means more than just a slogan on a shirt."

June 1, 2005 – Finland
Fur shop owners car damaged and fur store windows smashed

May 31, 2005 – Ireland
Fishing/hunting store painted and locks glued

May 30, 2005 – Russia
Physiological Pathology lab at Moscow Medical Institute trashed

May 29, 2005 – Norway
Windows smashed of fur store smashed

May 28, 2005 – USA
Plant nursery and cars belonging to 3 people planning on starting a primate importation facility trashed.

May 26, 2005 - New Zealand
19 battery hens kept in horrendous conditions liberated

May 25, 2005 – USA
Bachem worker gets car re-decorated

May 24, 2005 – Spain
UPS van spraypainted and locks glued

May 23, 2005 – Russia
Another liberation from Moscow University! this time it's 5 frogs

May 22, 2005 – Russia
1 fox and 2 racoons liberated from a fur farm

May 21, 2005 – Sweden
Numerous fur shops and a company who provides these shops with security attacked with paint and glass etching fluid

May 20, 2005 - Italy
Morini Farm employee has his gates locked with him inside

May 19, 2005 – USA
5 homes belonging to employees of HLS associate Medifacts International are attacked

May 18, 2005 – UK
Covance employee has home attacked with paint

May 16, 2005 – Sweden
Fur shop owner has his home and car doused with glass etching fluid

May 15, 2005 – Sweden
The owners of 2 fur shops have their homes painted

May 14, 2005 – Sweden
Fur store has front window etched

May 13, 2005 – UK
Pheasant farm attacked, birds released and extensive damage inflicted

"Try as hard as you want to hide your dirty little secrets, we're always watching and always will be"

May 12, 2005 – UK
Milk truck smashed up and 8000 litres of milk emptied from tanker

May 11, 2005 – Ireland
Shooters have their cars painted and glued

May 10, 2005 – Austria
Front window of fur shop etched

May 9, 2005 – Spain
Furshops and a butchers get painted

May 7, 2005 – Sweden
4 rabbits and 10 pigeons being breed for vivisection are liberated

May 3, 2005 – UK
Cars belonging to notorious animal importers, the Dover Harbour Board are attacked

May 3, 2005 – Switzerland
Butcher and fur shops get painted and locks superglued

May 2, 2005 – Sweden
1400 mink liberated from fur farm

May 2, 2005 – UK
Badger trap destroyed by determined activist

April 30, 2005 – Spain
HLS supplier UPS has an improvised incendiary device left in its doorway at night

"On Friday night an explosive device made with a bottle of petrol and a camping gas bottle was placed in the door of a UPS office"

April 29, 2005 – Australia
2 pigs liberated from meat farm

April 28, 2005 – Holland
800 mink freed from a fur farm

April 27, 2005 – Spain
UPS store vandalised

April 26, 2005 – Sweden
55 chickens liberated from filthy battery farm

April 26, 2005 - Netherlands
3 associates of primate lab BPRC attacked with paint bombs

"Blood on your hands? Paint on your buildings!"

April 23, 2005 – USA
Roche staff have homes attacked with paint bombs

April 22, 2005 – Sweden
Sophisticated firebombs found at mink farm

April 22, 2005 – UK
Lobster pots and fishing nets destroyed by the Lobster Liberation Front

"Needless to say, the scurvy dog who lurks about Kimmeridge Bay, trapping crustacean life so that they can be boiled alive and eaten, must have felt awfully sea sick when he found his equipment in the morning!"

April 21, 2005 – Spain
UPS van sabotaged… again!

April 21, 2005 – USA
Glaxo president has window taken out with a brick

April 19, 2005 – USA
Director of HLS supplier Phenomenex has his cars painted

April 18, 2005 – Spain
UPS vehicle damaged

April 17, 2005 – Sweden
3 advanced incendiary devices found at fur farm

April 15, 2005 – USA
Glaxo scientist has car paint stippered

April 14, 2005 – UK
Large pheasant pens destroyed

April 14, 2005 – Germany
214 hens liberated during a month of action

April 13, 2005 – UK
2 cars belonging to HLS supplier PerkinElmer attacked. Dedicated to Sarah Guisbourne

April 12, 2005 – UK
3 cars belonging to Phytopharm employee trashed

April 12, 2005 – Netherlands
Associates of primate lab BPRC are sabotaged

April 11, 2005 – Italy
20 rabbits liberated from meat farm

April 11, 2005 – UK
2 rabbits liberated from experimental farm

April 10, 2005 – UK
UPS worker has her home and car attacked

April 10, 2005 – Italy
400 mink released from fur farm. Dedicated to prisoner Sergio M. Stefani

April 9, 2005 – Spain
UPS building attacked with stones and paint

April 9, 2005 – Spain
10 animal abusing shops glued and painted

"Until the destruction of every cage, lab, bussiness and industry of animal suffering - ALF"

April 9, 2005 – Italy
6 wild caught birds freed from traps

April 8, 2005 – Austria
UPS building glued and painted

April 7, 2005 – Sweden
1000 mink liberated from squalid fur farm

April 5, 2005 – Switzerland
Fur shops painted and locks glued

"We have done this because we cant just ignore violence against the animals any more"

April 4, 2005 - Austria/Germany
Windows etched at fur retailer

April 3, 2005 – USA
KFC extensively vandalized

April 2 , 2005 – Spain
UPS vehicles and buildings attacked. Dedicated to Peter Young and Sarah Guisbourne

April 2, 2005 – USA
Fox farm raided and foxes released. Dedicated to Peter Young

April 1, 2005 – UK
Rabbit liberated from a magician during performance!

March 30, 2005 – USA
Glaxo associate gets his home and car attacked

March 29, 2005 - USA
2 Glaxo associates have houses painted and glued

"You cant stop us, and you'll never know who will be next"

March 28, 2005 – USA
Glaxo associate has home painted & locks glued

March 27, 2005 – USA
Director of HLS client Teva Pharmaceuticals has house painted and glued

March 26, 2005 – USA
4 Roche employees have their homes attacked

March 25, 2005 – Italy
Arson attack on department store selling fur

"Freedom for the animals. Fire to furriers"

March 25, 2005 – UK
UPS workers car attacked and approach road to depot covered in nails

March 19, 2005 –USA
Glaxo executive has his house targeted

March 18, 2005 – Switzerland
Butchers shops and meat trucks attacked with glue and etching fluid

March 17, 2005 – USA
Couple who ordered the killing of 3 bears have their home trashed

March 16, 2005 – Spain
UPS van attacked

March 15, 2005 – USA
12 ducklings liberated from factory farm

March 15, 2005 – Finland
Feed supplier to the fur industry burnt down

March 15, 2005 – UK
Pub specializing in lobster gets spraypainted

March 13, 2005 – USA
Glaxo executive has house painted

March 13, 2005 – USA
Teva Pharmaceuticals lawyer has house painted

March 12, 2005 – Spain
Various animal abusing establishments painted

March 11, 2005 – UK
Incendiary device and death threats sent to Newchurch Farm worker

March 10, 2005 – Spain
Fur shop has locks glued

March 9, 2005 – USA
Relatives of the CEO of HLS market maker Legacy have homes painted and cars covered in paint stripper

March 9, 2005 – USA
Dog fight organiser has house painted whilst serving prison sentence

March 8, 2005 – UK
50 hens liberated from stinking battery unit

"Chicken liberation is easy to do so get out there and save some lives. Every life counts and you can't beat the feeling when you have one of those little lives in your hands and you take them to a new life – ALF"

March 7, 2005 – Canada
Vice President of HLS client Sumitomo has cars attacked

March 7, 2005 – UK
5 cars belonging to Fisher Scientific directors attacked

March 6, 2005 – Italy
Cars belonging to Morini Farm associates torched

March 5, 2005 – Italy
5 animal abuse stores painted

March 4, 2005 – Spain
Circus covered in anti-animal cruelty slogans

March 3, 2005 – New Zealand
40 hens liberated from battery farm

March 2, 2005 - Sweden
5 attacks on fur stores and a McDonalds

March 1, 2005 – Italy
Property of Morini Farm collaborators attacked with paintbombs

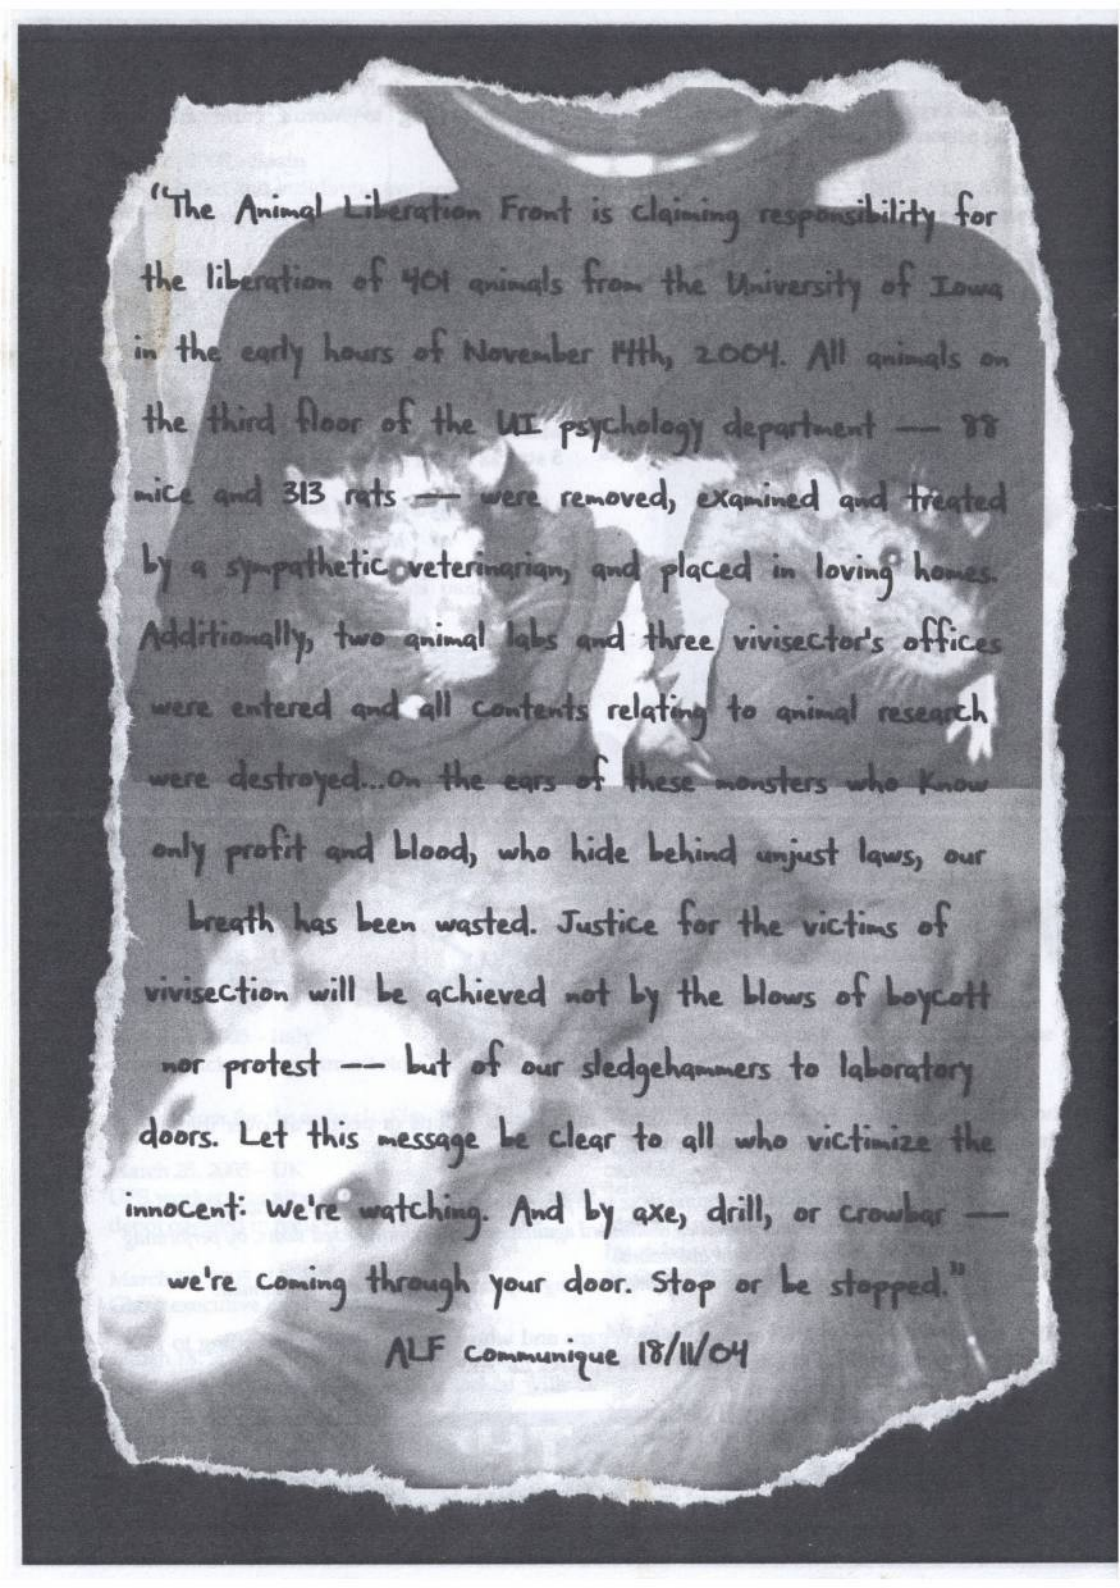

The Animal Liberation Front consists of small autonomous groups of people all over the world who carry out direct action according to the ALF guidelines:

- To inflict economic damage against those who profit from the misery and exploitation of animals.
- To reveal the horror and atrocities committed against animals behind locked doors, by performing non-violent direct actions and liberations.
- To take all necessary precautions against harming any animal, human and non-human.

Any group of people who are vegetarians or vegans and who carry out actions according to ALF guidelines have the right to regard themselves as part of the ALF.

SUPPORT THE ALF

"The Animal Liberation Front is claiming responsibility for the liberation of 401 animals from the University of Iowa in the early hours of November 11th, 2004. All animals on the third floor of the UI psychology department — 88 mice and 313 rats — were removed, examined and treated by a sympathetic veterinarian, and placed in loving homes. Additionally, two animal labs and three vivisector's offices were entered and all contents relating to animal research were destroyed...On the ears of these monsters who know only profit and blood, who hide behind unjust laws, our breath has been wasted. Justice for the victims of vivisection will be achieved not by the blows of boycott nor protest — but of our sledgehammers to laboratory doors. Let this message be clear to all who victimize the innocent: We're watching. And by axe, drill, or crowbar — we're coming through your door. Stop or be stopped."

ALF communique 18/11/04

This zine is about action, about shrugging off the lethargy and apathy that pervades modern culture. About standing when others are content to crawl. About staring into the face of seemingly over-whelming odds whilst boldly striding forwards confident of victory. This zine shows that small groups of people, even individuals, can make a difference and that large-scale protests and generic, predictable demonstrations are not necessarily the best way of achieving success. This zine is about love, commitment, strength, compassion, respect, anger, pride, dedication, courage, dignity, honour and liberation. This zine is about realising your strength, thinking for yourself, fighting your fears and fulfilling your dreams. This zine is an out-pouring of hope, a collection of writings designed to inspire, uplift and educate.

We have looked into the eyes of abused animals, we have seen their fear, their pain, their longing for companionship. We have seen lands stripped bare by man and his greedy desire for wealth. But... we have also seen the indescribable look in the eyes of animals freed from captivity, we have seen land once devastated reclaimed and rejuvenated by nature, we have seen justice served and we have rejoiced. We know deep in our hearts that a new world is possible and by whatever means necessary we will continue to fight for that future.

Raise your boltcroppers to the sunset, another night awaits us

For victory, for total liberation
xULTRAMILITANCEx

All of us have dreamt of actions we would like to carry out in the name of animal liberation...

Well now's the time to make these dreams reality

Promote the ALF
Support the ALF
Become the ALF

xultramilitancex@donteatmeat.com